Convict Stabs Guards, Leaves London Prison

Cleveland Slayer Is Object of State Hunt; 2 Others Walk Away

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A statewide alert was out today for James Esson, a convicted murderer who stabbed a guard and escaped last night from the London Prison Farm.

Esson, who was granted honor status just last May 2, was sentenced from Cuyahoga County to Ohio Penitentiary July 14, 1948.

M. C. Kohlentz, chief of the state division of correction, said the prison farm's superintendent, R. B. Eckle, said the stabbing occurred in a truck on one of the roads that winds through the 3,000-acre prison farm. Esson had been transferred to the farm Aug. 31, 1954.

Condition 'Fair'

The guard, Ray Gordon, who lives at Leesburg, was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus with knife stab wounds in his hand and right side. Hospital officials described his condition as "fair."

While authorities began a search for Esson, two other honor inmates walked away from the farm's dairy barn, where they were assigned to work.

Eckle identified them as Joseph Ferrall, 46, sentenced to from 1 to 20 years from Madison County for grand larceny and safe breaking, and John O. Meyers, 38, sentenced to from 1 to 15 years from Franklin County for burglary.

Unrelated Incidents

Eckle said there was no connection between Esson's escape and the walkaway of the two.

Eckle said Esson and Gordon were in the truck at the "back end" of the prison farm.

The superintendent gave this version of the escape:

"Esson produced a knife and tried to take the truck. The guard resisted and he was stabbed in his hand and in his right side. The wounds were serious enough to send him to a hospital."

Serving Life Sentence

Esson jumped out of the truck and fled, Eckle added. He said Gordon was on patrol duty on the grounds in the light truck.

Esson was serving a life sentence on a first degree murder charge. He was convicted, along with three others, in the slaying of George Margulis, secretary of the Reliable Steel Plate Co. in a holdup attempt at the Cleveland firm Feb. 6, 1948.

Ralph Reed, one of those convicted, was given the death penalty, but mercy was recommended for Esson and Sam Charles LaDuca and Edsel Ford Muncy. The recommendation saved them from the electric chair.

Eckle said Esson had been working as a clerk in the deputy warden's office.

Ike Back in Washington After 27 Holes of Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to Washington today feeling "all right" after a 27-hole round of golf.

"Oh, he's all right," the President's doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, said when asked how the President felt. Eisenhower's 27 holes Saturday was his longest round at the golf course since the day before his Sept. 24 heart attack.

The President had no activity Sunday beyond a tour of his farm property with his neighbor George E. Allen.

Derailed Near Alliance

Pennsy Flyer Hits Truck, 3 Are Dead

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A speeding passenger train hit a truck at nearby Atwater today, hurtled off its tracks and smashed a frame feed mill to bits.

At least three men were killed. At least seven other persons were injured, including some of the train's 60 passengers.

Acetylene torches were used to cut away a portion of one of the overturned cars and free the passengers inside.

All Cars Derailed

The diesel engine, the baggage car and all four passenger cars of the train—the Pennsylvania Railroad's Pittsburgh - to - Cleveland "Steeler"—were derailed.

Wreckage strewed the area from the crossing of U. S. 224 to the demolished mill about 500 feet away.

J. G. French of Rochester, N. Y., the flagman on the train, said the collision with the truck "cut the air lines to the brakes, and the train was out of control from there on."

Smashes Into Mill

The track runs in a hollow beside the mill, and the train's baggage car shot up the bank and into the one-story frame building housing the mill and offices of the Portage County Farm Bureau.

Only the front door of the mill and a small section around it was left standing. The rest of the building fell on the baggage car which witnesses said could not be seen for wreckage.

One of the three persons killed, Arthur J. Fisher, about 50, of Pittsburgh, was decapitated by a rail. Fisher was a brakeman.

Charles E. Fouser, 41, of Atwater, an employe of the mill, died as the train reduced the mill to rubble.

Truck Demolished

The truck driver, Andrew Nappi, 27, of Akron, was the third person killed. His truck was ripped to pieces, its general consignment cargo including everything from felt hats to paint, was scattered.

Nappi, an employe of an Akron trucking firm, was on his way from Akron to Harrisburg, Pa.

Fifth Turk Is Slain In Nicosia Rioting

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A Turkish Cypriot constable was killed and two other members of the Cyprus security forces were wounded by shots fired from ambush at a convoy in which they were riding Sunday night near Paphos.

The dead man is the fifth Turkish Cypriot policeman killed in the 14-month-old Greek Cypriot campaign to end British rule of Cyprus.

A curfew has been imposed on Nicosia's Turkish quarter and on the nearby village of Afania, where two persons were killed Saturday in Greek-Turkish rioting.

Cypriots of Turkish origin oppose the Greek Cypriot campaign to drive the British from the island colony and unite it with Greece.

The offices now are open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. daily and from 8 to 12 noon on Saturdays.

The health department will continue on its regular hours, Dr. M.M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner said. It will be open from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Saturdays.

The police department record bureau will continue to be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

'Pushbutton' War Myth, He Says

Biggest Battle Load Still Army's, Brucker Claims

DETROIT (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said today the concept of a pushbutton war is a "dangerous myth" and declared the major combat burden of any war would fall on the U. S. Army.

Brucker, apparently taking note of recent Air Force criticism of army weapons, added in a speech prepared for delivery at the Detroit Economic Club that "the Army's weapons — both atomic and non-atomic — are the best that have been developed."

"They are not limited in their effectiveness by fog, rain, snow or any other adverse condition," Brucker said. "We are not interested in any weapon merely because it makes the biggest bang or the biggest hole in the ground."

He said the Army's nike anti-aircraft system was the nation's "major ground weapon against hostile aircraft" and added "these deadly missiles are capable of coordinated and controlled fire."

The Army secretary said.

"We should have in our arsenal an adequate supply of atomic weapons which can be used to support our mission without unnecessary wholesale destruction—without the annihilation of large segments of the population within an area of combat—which might well be a friendly population."

Then he listed among the army's "splendid interim atomic weapons" the corporal guided missile; the redstone ballistic missile, which he said was developed by joining of "army and navy scientific talent and resources."

110 U.S. Traffic Deaths Predicted Over Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimates Memorial Day traffic accidents will claim 110 lives.

The normal average of motor vehicle deaths on a nonholiday Wednesday at this time of year is 70.

The council challenged the motoring public to hold the Memorial Day death toll to 70.

The period covered by the advance estimate is from 6 p.m. (local time) Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

French Mob Troop Train For Algeria

Red-Led Rioters Rout Police, Board Cars, Carry Off Reservists

ST. NAZAIRE, France (AP) — A mob of about 1,500 men stormed through police lines today and carried home in triumph a group of reservists who were scheduled to leave by train for service in Algeria.

A force of about 1,000 mobile guards and special riot police, swinging gunbutts and clubs was unable to check the demonstrators' march on the railway station in this heavily Communist seaport and shipbuilding town. Tear gas and practice grenades also were used in vain.

Mob Storms Police Ranks

The mob threw anything within reach at the police—stones, iron bars and heavy bolts. Several persons were injured on both sides.

About 200 reservists were on the train to leave for the Mediterranean.

The protest started off with about 300 persons swarming over the railroad tracks and around the station, and swelled rapidly as workers left their jobs in metal working plants and in the construction industry at the call of the Communist-dominated General Federation of Labor (CGT).

The non-Communist unions did not order their men to join in the walkout, but expressed sympathy with the reservists recalled to active duty.

Reservists Leave Train

While the fighting was still in progress, the reservists left the railroad station to go home. Demonstrators picked them up and carried them on their shoulders.

It was only after the reservists left that order was restored and the area cleared.

This was the latest of a series of maneuvers organized by the Communists to block movements of troops being recalled. Committees for "a peaceful solution in Algeria" are being set up in an effort to force the government to negotiate in a settlement with the nationalist rebels. In an effort to put down the rebellion and to protect the friendly population in Algeria, the government has moved in about 330,000 troops and 50,000 more are expected to be sent soon.

France Gives Full Freedom To Moroccans

PARIS (AP) — The foreign ministers of France and Morocco today signed a series of agreements which give the former North African protectorate, the site of some big U. S. air bases, its full diplomatic freedom.

The documents included letters exchanged between the two governments specifically reserving the right of Morocco to review the agreements concluded between the United States and France in 1950 which gave the United States permission to establish the bases.

Members of the Moroccan government have hinted that rental money may be demanded from the United States for the right to continue using the bases, which were built at a cost of about 500 million dollars.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said France was looking to sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef to use his great popularity among the Moroccan people and to act energetically in removing causes of friction between the French in Morocco and the Moroccans.

Pineau obviously referred to events in recent weeks during which some members of the French army have been captured or killed by the army of liberation, and irregular outfit of several thousand men operating in northern and eastern Morocco. This army has not pledged allegiance to the Sultan and he appears to have no control over it.

Victim Hit 3 Times by Rifle Bullets

Manslaughter Count Filed; Fight Occurs On Farm Near City

Frank Blanton, 49, of 501 Emerson Ave., was shot and killed about 2 p.m. Saturday. The shooting climaxed a fight in the home of his son-in-law, Edgar Paul Briggs, 41, near Marion.

Charges of first degree manslaughter were filed in Municipal Court this morning by Sheriff Glenn Obenour against Briggs, who is being held in the County Jail on $10,000 bond. He pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Dr. Robert T. Gray, acting county coroner, ruled that death was due to internal hemorrhaging as the result of gunshot wounds in the abdomen.

Blanton was shot in a knee, stomach and chest with a .22 caliber rifle. One of the bullets severed an artery near the heart, Dr. Gray reported after an autopsy was conducted.

Sheriff Obenour, who investigated the shooting, gave the following account of the events leading to Blanton's death:

Blanton, who the sheriff said had been drinking Saturday, was picked up on the west side of town by some companions.

Blanton suggested that the group drive to the home of his son-in-law (Briggs) who resides near the intersection of County Road 105 and Route 739, southwest of Marion. When they arrived at the Briggs farm, Briggs was in the field planting corn.

For some unknown reason, Blanton went upstairs to get another son-in-law, Paul Edward VanVlerah, 21, who, having worked the previous night, was in bed asleep.

In the process of waking VanVlerah, a fight started and Blanton pulled a knife, the sheriff's account continued.

VanVlerah was considerably cut up, the fight progressing through several upstairs rooms in the house. Mrs. Briggs, downstairs, having heard the commotion, went

Akron Boy, 16, Tells Police of Killing Mother

Youth Says He Fired To 'Quiet' Argument Between His Parents

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who told police he shot and killed his mother accidentally while trying to "quiet" an argument between his parents, was held in Summit County Detention Home today for a hearing before Juvenile Judge Russell W. Thomas.

Mrs. Anna E. Frank, 43, was shot in the heart early Sunday and was pronounced dead at St. Thomas Hospital.

Police quoted the son, John Kenneth Frank, as saying he got a .22 caliber foreign make automatic pistol from his bedroom and was trying to "quiet" a quarrel between his mother and father when the weapon discharged accidentally.

The boy, a sophomore at Akron Garfield High School, told police he attended a party Saturday night at Akron Municipal Airport with his mother and his father, Phillip R. Frank, a chief aviation mechanic stationed at the Akron Naval Air Station. The parents started arguing at the party and continued the quarrel after they returned early Sunday to their apartment, police said the boy told them.

James Crano, Summit County coroner's investigator, said the argument started when Frank left his wife for about a half hour and she accused him of "being with a girl." Crano said Frank told him he went to get some beer.

Frank last night was making arrangements to take his three younger children—Roger, 13, Phillip Richard, 11, and Lynette, 6—to his wife's sister in Chicago where funeral services will be held.

British Fear 3 Cypriots Plan To Slay Queen

LONDON (AP) — Three Cypriot gunmen were reported hunted today by police who have thrown a close guard around Queen Elizabeth II, her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, and other members of the royal family.

The News Chronicle said the three are known to have left Cyprus with faked passports, presumably for England. They have not been intercepted anywhere and they could have reached this country by now, the newspaper said.

Neither Buckingham Palace nor Scotland Yard would comment on the report. The gunmen reportedly are members of Eoka, the Greek Cypriot underground organization fighting British rule of Cyprus.

The trooping of the color ceremony next Thursday at which the Queen will ride a horse for an hour in the midst of a large crowd is worrying police.

Scotland Yard never discusses security arrangements, but it is known that for the colo. trooping parade many extra police have been summoned from outlying districts and that all available central London detectives will be mingling with the crowd.

Steel Industry Opening New Contract Talks

Special Negotiating Team Seeking Early Peaceful Agreement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers and the world's biggest steel producer, U. S. Steel Corp., sat down at the bargaining table today to negotiate a new contract that likely will become a pattern throughout the basic steel industry.

John A. Stephens, head of Big Steel's 60-member negotiating committee, said he is hopeful of a speedy settlement that will be equitable to "the owners, the steelworkers and the nation."

USW President David J. McDonald, heading up a negotiating team of 90 members, said he hopes for "a reasonable and satisfactory agreement well in advance of the June 30 midnight strike deadline."

The first order of business taken up was election of a chairman to preside over the joint sessions.

The union established a precedent by sending a woman negotiator to the basic steel bargaining table for the first time. She is Mrs. Beatrice Reagan, president-elect of Local 2862, Cleveland.

Stephens said he is fully aware of "the impact of steel affairs on the national economy and I hope the settlement will serve the nation well."

Clifford Hood, U. S. Steel president, was on hand for the opening session.

Graves of 700 Veterans Are Marked Here

Approximately 700 veterans' graves at Marion and St. Mary Cemeteries were decorated Saturday by representatives of veterans organizations and Boy Scouts in preparation for Memorial Day observances here Wednesday.

While an attempt was made to place flags on all veterans' graves, some may have been missed. D. J. MacDonald, president of the Memorial and Veterans Day Association, announced today flags for any graves omitted in the grave marking are available at the Marion Cemetery office. Relatives or friends may obtain the flags there throughout the week and decorate the graves themselves, he explained.

He urged all citizens to fly flags on Memorial Day and he urged Marion merchants to display flags in front of their business places.

Tonight, veterans from Marion's various veteran groups comprising the color guard and colors for the Memorial Day parade will hold a rehearsal at the Marion Cemetery chapel. It is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Mr MacDonald said that disabled veterans and veterans unable to march in the parade will be provided transportation by the Marion Auto Dealers Association. They are to gather at Oak and Center Sts. at 9 a.m. Wednesday when the parade falls in.

Following the parade, which starts at 9:30 a.m., and services at Marion Cemetery, a reception dinner for the speaker, Col. J. Arthur Hamilton, commanding officer of the Marion Engineer Depot, will be held at Hotel Harding at noon. Reservations have been made for approximately 20 officers and staff of the association and heads of various veteran groups, Mr. MacDonald reported.

Measure Shock Waves; AEC Silent

Japs Claim Another Big H-Blast Set Off by U.S.

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese scientists announced their instruments indicated the United States set off another hydrogen blast at Bikini today comparable in power to the mighty May 21 H-bomb explosion.

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington had no immediate comment.

The Tokyo Central Meteorological Observatory said its 15 gauges throughout Japan recorded atmospheric pressure waves from the direction of Bikini for about 40 minutes. The observatory said the duration and strength of the waves were the same as those recorded after the May 21 blast, which exploded with an estimated force of more than 10 million tons of TNT.

Seismograph Records

A "supersensitive" seismograph at Matsushiro, 130 miles northwest of Tokyo, recorded earth shock nearly three hours ahead of the air gauge readings, the scientists reported. The seismograph also recorded the May 21 blast before the atmospheric instruments.

Earth shocks travel much faster than atmospheric pressure waves.

None of the 15 newsmen who saw the May 21 bomb drop at Bikini were there today. Their stay in the proving ground was limited to 30 days. Weather conditions forced repeated postponements of the H-bomb drop and thus delayed later tests of the current series beyond the time limit granted the correspondents.

Tests To Continue

The AEC has said the current tests will run into June.

The Tokyo observatory said the Matsushiro seismograph recorded the earth shocks at 3:02 a.m. (1:02 p.m. EST, Sunday). The air gauges recorded the atmospheric pressure waves at 6:33 a.m. in Yokohama and 6:14 a.m. in Tokyo.

The seismograph recorded the May 21 explosion 12 minutes after the blast was set off at Bikini and the air pressure gauges reacted three hours later.

Allowing for time zone differences and the speed of earth shocks and atmospheric pressure waves, the newest blast—if it was detonated—apparently was set off about dawn at Bikini.

More Rain Is Expected Here

1½ Inches Falls in City Over Weekend

Additional rain was in store for Marionites and Ohioans today and Tuesday as tornadoes and flash floods marked the national weather picture.

Occasional showers and thunderstorms today, tonight and Tuesday is the local forecast. Rainfall over the weekend totaled 1.55 inches, with 1.1 of that amount falling during a 24-hour period ending at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, local weather observers reported today.

Nationally, rain fell over much of the country today and some areas were on the lookout for tornado clouds, The Associated Press reported.

Western Nebraska, western Kansas and northwestern Texas were hit by at least a dozen twisters which spun out of roving thunderheads Sunday. The tornadoes, however, struck open country or failed to touch ground and no measurable damage resulted.

Seneca Board Is Blasted for Merger Stand

School Officials Who Wanted To Join Call Defeat Selfish Action

UPPER SANDUSKY — Lack of action by the Seneca County Board of Education was cited as the reason for the failure of a merger plan to unite three local school districts along the Wyandot-Seneca county line as members of the local school boards today released information on a letter sent to F. M. Eyeman, state director of education.

The three boards charge the lack of action by the Seneca board has halted efforts that had seemed certain of bringing about the consolidation of the McCutchenville and Sycamore districts in Wyandot County and the Melmore School in Eden Township of Seneca County.

New High School Planned

Presidents of the local boards are Reed Morehart, McCutchenville; J. Dewey Hetzel, Sycamore and Claude Taylor, Melmore. In their joint letter-statement to the state director of education they said members of all three boards had put much time and work in the project for the formation of a new Mohawk District that was planned to have a new high school in a central location of the merger district and utilize present schools for elementary and junior high grades.

They also noted the work of state department representatives and the superintendents of schools of Seneca and Wyandot Counties. Suggestions of the state representatives and the two county superintendents were followed in all the several meetings.

With 75 per cent of the pupils in the proposed merged district already under Wyandot County jurisdiction, the three boards decided control of the new district should be given to the Wyandot County system, the officials declared.

This made it necessary for the Eden local board to request transfer of their district from Seneca County to carry out the agreed terms of the merger. With a favorable recommendation from the Seneca County superintendent assured, no difficulty was expected, the letter declared.

Request Is Tabled

When the request was presented to the Seneca County Board of Education the members voted unanimously to table it indefinitely and failed to offer any alternate solution to the problem, the letter stated.

Board members said they were sure they had the support of the vast majority of residents of the districts and added the officials opposed were not keeping abreast of present educational needs in Ohio, or had ignored "natural" consolidation for selfish reasons.

The letter closed with a request for the use of board influence to obtain legislation to take the authority of transfer from county boards and grant it to the state department of education.

Copies of the letter to the state director of education were sent to F. K. Cassel and Bailey R. Turner, Wyandot and Seneca County representatives to the state legislature; State Senator J. E. Simpson, of Forest and to the Seneca and Wyandot County boards of education.

$11½ Million Valuation

The proposed merged district would have formed a 12 by 13 mile rectangle with a combined valuation of $11½ million to pay a combined indebtedness of $144,000 and build a new centrally located high school building.

Both the state department and the three local boards had agreed the project was practical. All concerned were so certain the merger was assured, courses for the coming school year had been offered for registration.

The three local districts have a total enrollment of 1,100 pupils and 300 were slated to attend the new Mohawk District High School. Plans had been completed to submit a bond issue to district voters at the fall election.

2 Brothers Bound To Wyandot Jury

UPPER SANDUSKY — Brothers Joseph and Ray Fisher of Jackson, bound over to the Wyandot County grand jury when they pleaded guilty to six counts of issuing checks with insufficient funds, are being held in the county jail here.

Bond was set at $6,000 for each when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Forrest H. Bacon here Friday. The men were apprehended May 18 near Lima by the state highway patrol and returned here to face charges filed by six Upper Sandusky merchants.

Also held for the grand jury are Mrs. Ruby Fisher, wife of Ray Fisher, and Miss Garnet Perkins. They were charged with passing the bad checks issued by the Fisher brothers and were bound over to the grand jury after pleading not guilty in Justice Bacon's court.

Bond for Mrs. Fisher was set at $2,000 on two counts of check forgery and larceny by trick and at $4,000 for Miss Perkins on four counts of the same charges.

The two women were arrested here after allegedly cashing checks signed by "Byron Fisher," at six Upper Sandusky stores. They were allegedly trying to cash another similar check for $55 when apprehended by police.

Dies in Cleveland

School Instructor Becomes Detective

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex (AP)—For weeks, officials at the Cheston Heath School tried to solve a rash of petty thefts. Finally the loss of 50 cents lunch money was tearfully reported by one young student

"Someone in this room took the money," Miss Kay Kraft told the children. "We must all empty our pockets."

Pockets were emptied, but there was no sign of the 50-cent piece.

"Now everybody take off his shoes," the teacher then ordered.

A shrill cry came from the rear of the room.

"She has the money between her toes," one student girl cried, pointing to another pupil.

Sure enough, an 8-year-old girl had the 50-cent coin firmly clutched between her big toe and second toe After some questioning, the child admitted the theft and other thefts.

School executives who congratulated Miss Kraft had one question. "How did you think to have the children take off their shoes?"

"That was easy," Miss Kraft said. "When I was a little girl my mother taught me to hide my money—in my shoes."

Cleveland Girl Attacked, Deaf Mute Quizzed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 38-year-old deaf mute was held for questioning by police today in the attack of a 13-year-old East Side girl who was brutally beaten with a bottle after she returned home from a baby-sitting job.

Police said Mary Joyce Vlasaty apparently was assaulted by a sex maniac in a rape attempt. She was found unconscious on the living room of her home early Sunday.

The man in custody is a laborer who lives in the neighborhood.

Officers said their investigation was hampered by the girl's inability to remember anything that happened when she regained consciousness. Two detectives were posted at her bedside in case she regained her memory.

The girl, her clothing ripped by the attacker, suffered a brain concussion and deep scalp wounds. Police said a blood-covered soft drink bottle found in the living room had been used to beat her.

Mrs. Helen Vlasaty, the girl's mother, said her daughter returned home about midnight Saturday from a baby-sitting job. The mother told police she was with friends in a nearby cafe when the attack occurred and found her daughter on the floor when she returned home about 2 a. m.

Police said Mary Joyce apparently had been watching a late movie on television when she was attacked. The set was still on when she was found.

Officers said the $3 the girl received for baby-sitting was missing from her purse, but $15 in cash on a nearby dressing table and a government check on the television set were not molested.

3 Burned in Fire

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — First and second degree burns were suffered by three persons Sunday in a flash fire in the basement of a home here.

They are Claude A. Heasley, 50, and his wife, Margaret, 44, at whose home the fire occurred, and Mrs. Heasley's sister, Mrs. Mildred Schott, 45. Mrs. Schott was reported in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Firemen said the three were cleaning clothes with gasoline when the fumes apparently were ignited by a hot water heater pilot light.

Takes No Chances

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Alma Bothe found a tube-shaped object near her house with a cord attached to one end. She changed her mind about carrying it into the house when she noticed the letters D-A-N-G-E-R.

"I didn't know what the thing was, but it scared me," she said. So she placed it in the garbage can. Four hours later she told her sister about it and they decided to call police. Sgt. J. K. Bradberry said it was a stick of dynamite with blasting cap and fuse and "capable of blowing something sky high."

Burned in Crash

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joseph Koller, 40, of nearby Sharonville was in "critical" condition at General Hospital today with burns suffered in the collision of two cars that caught fire Sunday night.

County police said Koller suffered burns on 60 per cent of his body and sustained fractures of both wrists in the accident.

Deputy Is Shot In Fight With 3 Police Officers

Lorain County Man Critical After Battle At Washington C.H.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—A Lorain County deputy sheriff was wounded critically today in a gun battle with three police officers at a local service station.

The deputy, Steve Mohowski, 30, of Elyria, was taken to University Hospital in Columbus with a bullet wound in the left eye. Hospital attendants said the bullet was lodged against the back of Mohowski's skull.

Police said Mohowski opened fire on Sgt. Walter Marshall and patrolmen Lang Laytart and Elmer Kelly after they were summoned to the station at Court and North Sts. by the attendant, Clarence Jones.

Marshall said that as they approached, Mohowski drew a pistol from his belt and ran behind a parked car. Marshall said he told Mohowski to put down the gun but Mohowski yelled: "Don't come any closer, or I'll shoot."

Mohowski fired when Marshall again told him to surrender, police said.

Laytart said he put six bullets through the windshield of the car, and that Mohowski kept firing, ducking down behind the car. After the sixth bullet, Mohowski jumped from behind the car and yelled: "I'll get you now. You've emptied your gun," Laytart said.

Laytart had emptied one pistol but carried two. He felled Mohowski with one shot from the second gun.

Jones said Mohowski "acted funny" when he entered the station.

Police quoted Jones:

"He first wanted to know what all the trucks were doing running up and down State Route 3 (Court St.). I saw the gun in his belt. Then he asked where were the police, and I ran."

Police said Jones pretended to sweep some rubbish around the corner of the station. When he was out of Mohowski's sight he ran a block and a half to the police station.

Right-to-Work Laws Unchanged

Whether you are a union member, an employer, or a neutral in the issue of right-to-work laws, the U.S. Supreme Court's decision against Nebraska's law outlawing the union shop is something you should try to understand as a citizen.

A question of constitutional rights has been asked and answered in this case. The question was whether or not a railroad employe who does not belong to a union can be forced to join a union in Nebraska, whose constitution forbids a union shop.

The Supreme Court's answer was that Nebraska's constitution in this specific instance is in conflict with the federal Railway Labor Act, which supersedes state law, in accordance with Article VI of the U.S. Constitution.

Although the Railway Labor Act legalizes union-shop agreements, they must not cover anything but payment of dues, fees and assessments. The Supreme Court, confining its ruling strictly to railroad employes, says it could rule that even they could not be made to support a union majority if their right of free speech were restricted.

Thus, the decision does not knock out right-to-work laws in any state which has them or may adopt them. It concerns only railroad employe and concerns them only because of a federal law to govern labor-management relation in one industry. Congress could repeal the Railway Labor Act provision legalizing the union shop, the decision points out.

It has been wrongly claimed that the Supreme Court knocked out state laws prohibiting union-shop practices. It merely affirmed that Article VI of the U.S. Constutiton makes federal laws superior to state laws in the same category.

The same reasoning was applied to state sedition laws recently. Congress can protect state sovereignty by expressly stating that it shall not be superseded when a federal law is passed. It did not do this in the Railway Labor Act.

The Taft-Hartley Act, which provides that union-shop agreements shall not apply in states that prohibit them, covers all other situations that might arise, as long as it stays in effect. Right-to-work laws have not been outlawed.

Debates Are for Debaters

It will be proposed from time to time during this campaign year that candidates should pair off for a good old-fashioned debate. It is a fond illusion of many voters that a debate proves who is the better man.

But it doesn't work that way. Debates are for debaters, not political candidates. The best the candidates can hope to win in a debate is a personal popularity contest, which was all that Abraham Lincoln won in his historic debates with Stephen A. Douglas in 1858.

In 1948, the radio debate between Harold Stassen and Thomas E. Dewey in the contest for Oregon's favor in the Republican presidential primary proved merely that the New Yorker had more followers than the Minnesotan. It was the consensus that Dewey won the debate, in which he argued that the Communist party should not be outlawed. But Stassen's point of view finally prevailed, even though Dewey won both the debate and the popularity contest.

Latest and least of the "debates" was the farcical meeting of Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver in Miami on May 21. It was farcical because they avoided all issues, including the only one on which they could lock horns—racial desegregation

Debates are for people who argue for the fun of it and can argue either side of an issue with equal facility. Political candidates do not campaign for the fun of it, and the only side they know or care about is their side.

Accelerators and Brakes

The old rule that the nation goes as steel goes has been changed to the new rule that the nation goes as automobiles go, meaning the vast industry of producing automobiles.

But in the present slowdown of the auto industry, which is causing uneasiness about business prospects, something might be learned from remembering how automobiles, themselves, go.

They do not go at ever-accelerating speeds in straight lines. They have brakes as well as accelerators. They have manpower at the control as well as horsepower under the hood. And they go according to the judgment of the manpower. The potential horsepower has no judgment.

The most important element in economics is human judgment, not the impersonal elements that might be called economic horsepower.

The automobile industry cannot go indefinitely in a straight line at ever-accelerating rates of production, but that does not signify that something has gone wrong.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, admitting that brakes are being applied to the consternation of many who want perpetual acceleration, points to the "underlying confidence" of businessmen as the basis of a prediction that the long-term outlook is for a sustained high level of prosperity.

The men who make key decisions about economic operations, including those who make them in the automobile industry, are not disturbed because automobiles have brakes as well as accelerators.

Food of the Future

Irradiation Coming to Fore as Preservative

BIRMINGHAM

In the near future, the homemaker may be able to put highly perishable foods on the pantry shelf and forget about them—even in hot summertime.

That is the aim of research projects on the irradiation of foods by various governmental and industrial agencies racing to find the answers on how to irradiate foods successfully without injurious effects.

According to accounts of current research, we might expect to see irradiation of foods by various governmental and industrial agencies racing to find the answers on how to irradiate foods successfully without injurious effects.

According to accounts of current research, we might expect to see irradiated meat and other foods on the market in the next year. Possibly, almost immediately, in the case of some items — especially potatoes and grains.

When irradiated foods come, meats will be completely sterilized and will keep for at least two months without danger of spoilage.

Radiation of foods is not a household process of food preservation. Foods will be handled in an irradiating plant and a conveyor belt will pass them through the source of radiation.

When foods are exposed to large doses of radiation, they will keep for varying periods, according to the type of food. If they are exposed to small doses of radiation, their keeping qualities will be extended a few days.

So, why not larger doses of radiation? As we understand it, large doses of radiation bring changes in flavor, texture and flavor's components — odor and taste. The question now — how to cope with that problem?

Plenty is being done about it. Sixty research agencies scattered about this country are studying the problem. One is the Southern Research Institute of Birmingham. Dr. Robert E. Banks Jr, head of the organic chemistry laboratory is in charge of their part of the project. All research groups are under contract to the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute of the armed forces for research and testing on the irradiation of meat and other food products.

The institute is concerned only with isolating the materials which, when meat is irradiated, are responsible for the undesirable odor and flavor.

All meats used in these tests are quick-frozen in glass jars, then shipped in dry ice to an irradiating plant in Arco, Idaho After irradiating, it is shipped back to laboratories in dry ice.

Some of the other 59 research agencies are dealing with other chemical changes which take place, such as damage to certain nutrients.

When problems of flavor and nutrient damage are worked out, when the scientists can say conclusively that there are no injurious effects from the use of radiation in the preservation of foods, then the Foods and Drugs Administration will give the go-ahead sign for irradiated foods to be placed on the consumer market.

Then, kitchen life will be different for the average housewife and for grocers who count off a large proportion of profits to the spoilage of highly perishable foods.

There should be a revolution in the food industry—to the profit of all concerned.

Now, are you beginning to worry about the appearance of radioactivity in irradiated foods?

You can forget it. The scientists tried all the available types of rays which come from the spectrum in early experiments. They found gamma and beta rays most suitable for irradiating foods. The gamma rays do not produce radioactivity. The beta rays do—only when used in large doses. So, it's gamma rays they're using for most of the testing.

Potatoes may be among the first foods to be irradiated. Tests have shown that sprouting which robs them of flavor, can be eliminated permanently and that they may be stored for 18 months without refrigeration.

Flour, wheat, cornmeal, other grains and cereals may be treated in the same manner to keep them free of insects at a very low cost for radiation.

Strawberries which normally keep only 2-3 days would remain fresh, tempting, and tasty 4-6 days. Meats normally fresh under refrigeration 4-6 days will remain edible about two months with limited amounts of radiation.

Viewing the picture nationally, we should not expect to see meat as a pantry shelf product in the near future. The scientists tell us that it will be several years, probably, before all the questions are answered.

But, this we know—the trek of science is moving swiftly to extend the keeping quality of our foods by pasteurization with small doses of radiation. Which means, we soon may be eating full-flavored fruits picked at full ripeness anywhere from Trinidad to Timbuctoo. Irradiated to the pasteurization extent, and shipped to this country, they will retain all the bloom and freshness they had when plucked from the tree or vine.

Matter of Survival

BY TRUMAN TWILL

The lambing season finally tapered off. All but two of the expectant mothers now are safe in Happy Valley. The pressure on the head sheepman has diminished. Once more an uninterrupted night's sleep is possible.

Experts with figures have calculated that if the phenomenal rate of increase attained year after year by the Twillery flock could be projected on a commercial scale out West, the country would be floundering in the cast-off bones of lamb chops.

Until slowed down by some incidents which could have been sidestepped in a commercial operation, the increase this year was flirting with 150 per cent. That is a lamb and a-half for every ewe. Every other birth had to be twins to hit this pace.

Alas, the poor slobs who raise sheep for money, what with one thing and another, can't hit 100 per cent. They think they're having things pretty good if they do better than 80 per cent — and they have trouble getting that high.

It's a comfort to know that if worse came to worse you could go to Wyoming and raise sheep. All you'd need would be half a million dollars to get started, a fixer who could get government grazing land lined up for you, a threat of war to raise the market price of wool and a lively demand for lamb chops on the part of millions who now regard mutton as semi-inedible.

The threat of war looks like the easiest one to arrange at the moment. Boy lambs outnumbered girl lambs four to one this year. This looks like an omen.

Someone has suggested it may be only an omen of forthcoming war among sheep, but that is preposterous.

Sheep do not go to war. Going to war is the prerogative of wolves and their ever-present associates, the jackals.

Sooner or later the sheep get killed, but now it doesn't matter whether they are girl sheep or boy sheep, because for the first time in the history of war — except among the Amazons — it is as important to kill females as males. It couldn't be an omen that something went haywire with the proportions of males to females among sheep this year. It is just one of those things.

It has led to a grisly thought, though.

The only security men and women have in going it two-by-two is the law of averages. It could happen any time that there would be no more new misters or misses, as the case might be.

This could turn into a world without women, or a world without men, and if it happened things would be indescribably grim, though parthogenesis could save the human race if there were no men around.

Remember parthogenesis, where a lot of poor dumb clucks of turkeys were hatched from eggs without the benefit of a turkey gobbler? What a way to survive!

Armed Services Feud Premature

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

What the Army, Navy and Air Force are suffering from is not so much military indigestion as it is nearsightedness from trying to peer into the future.

The feuding among the three services is over the role each thinks it should have in national defense and future war. But the phenomenal development of new weapons may make present conceptions of modern war obsolete.

Missile development is the prime example.

The Army now has the job of guarding key points in the United States from air attack with the Nike missile, which has a range of about 25 miles. The Army is developing one with longer range.

BUT THE AIR FORCE, which has the job of protecting the whole country from air attack, is pushing a missile of its own, the Navy-developed Talos, with a range longer than the Nike's.

What does the future hold? Missiles so accurate and long-range that they can substitute for planes in defending the country? If so who handles them, the Army or the Air Force?

Or will even this idea of national defense shortly be out of date with the development of intercontinental missiles so accurate and devastating that an attack by plane would become obsolete?

Who would handle the defense against these missiles, Army or Air Force?

AND WHAT WILL the Navy's role be? It's pushing a big carrier program. This is the thinking behind that: That its carrier-based bombers could attack any target on earth since each carrier would be a movable air base.

But some Air Force officers downgrade the importance of carrier strikes against an enemy with this argument: Enemy planes with radar could spot the carriers 400 miles away and knock them off like ducks with missiles. The Navy replied that the carriers wouldn't stay long in one place.

One further point in the inter-service argument: What happens if the United States and Russia develop such powerful bombers or intercontinental missiles, with nuclear weapons attached, that neither dares to start a war on the other?

WHAT THEN HAPPENS to the huge air forces if little wars start but the big powers don't want them to become big wars? Army people claim they'll have to do the fighting.

The Eisenhower administration has whittled down the army while throwing more money into the Air Force and the Navy. This was done in accordance with what the President thinks right now although it may not be permanently right.

It's no wonder Secretary of Defense Wilson, who as boss of the three services has to look at national defense from the overall viewpoint, recently told a news conference:

The main task now is to develop the best missiles we can. Afterwards we can decide on roles and missions. Meaning: What branch of the armed forces does what.

Ike's Security Program

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower started his security program three years ago this month. How has it worked? Democrats called it a "numbers racket." Republicans seem pleased with it.

But they have begun to tone down portions of the program under repeated attacks as too often unfair to individuals.

The public will have to wait until next year for anything like an impartial judgment. A special 12-member commission created by Congress last year to examine the program said this week it can't finish before 1957.

This will hardly keep the politicians from kicking it around a bit in this year's campaign. But the Republicans won't be able to beat the Democrats over the head with the issue as easily as in the past.

IT TURNS OUT the Republicans themselves hired a big batch of the people they had been calling security risks.

The Republicans helped get themselves elected in 1952 with their charges of "Communists in government" and their attacks on President Truman's loyalty-security program.

When they won, they substituted their own program for Truman's, but they oversold themselves on how good it was. When they put it in operation May 27, 1953, Atty. Gen. Brownell predicted all security risks would be out of the government by the following September.

But they kept on finding security risks, or so they said, and produced figures which they threw at the Democrats in the 1954 congressional elections in attempts to show that they had inherited a "mess."

THE WAY the Republicans, particularly Vice President Nixon, used these figures angered the Democrats. Nixon, always a man for a colorful phrase, said:

"We are kicking the Communists and fellow-travelers and security risks out of the government. . .by the thousands."

Last autumn Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission and the administration's chief custodian of figures on security risks, told a congressional committee:

1. Since the start of the Eisenhower program two years before 9,270 persons had quit their government jobs or been fired under the security program but —

2 He had no breakdown on how many of the 9,270 were considered subversive and how many were alcoholics or sexual perverts or otherwise unfit for a government job.

AND LAST JANUARY under prodding by Democratic senators, Young said 41 per cent of those who had left their jobs under a security cloud had been hired by the Eisenhower administration. The rest were holdovers from Truman's days.

Truman's program was a two-in-one arrangement: One covered employes of questionable loyalty; the other handled security risks—workers who might be completely loyal but might jeopardize national security because, for instance, they held a sensitive job but drank or talked too much.

The Truman security program covered only some government agencies, those which in some way were involved in national security. Eisenhower lumped the program into one big catch-all, covering all agencies.

Under the Truman program an employe whose agency head wanted to fire him could appeal to a special loyalty review board which could reverse the agency head.

Eisenhower wiped out this board. And Eisenhower gave each agency head broad authority for setting up his own standards for judging employes.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Freckles, Boxscores, Peace

Better global understandings and the cause of peace are to feel a sandlot influence. Into the group photo of powerful premiers, dictators, presidents, secretaries of state, warlords and generals steps a freckled kid. And he makes the most appealing figure in the bunch. The kid enters the scene with a ballbat in his hand and it could cramp Mars' style. He scampers across a sunny field to pull down a high one and the Four Horseman of the Apocalypse look to their bench for instructions.

AMERICA'S top schoolboy ballplayers, chosen from 18,000 kid teams playing in all parts of the country, are to travel to other nations as ambassadors of good will and it looks to this corner as if nothing the Voice of America says could eclipse "Hey, Skinny, poke one out of the lot," and "Slide, Sandy, slide!" in putting mankind in better humor. "Bring him across, Jimmy!" could ultimately be a better influence for world amity than "My government demands." . . . Secretary Dulles zooms across continents in a super plane and makes important speeches from many council chambers, but he can seem slow and ineffective compared to a sandy-headed boy trying to steal home on a squeeze play. Given equal breaks all around, we would trade Dulles and time for a good sanlot pitcher and a couple of 16-year-old long ball hitters.

IN THE FORM of the top envoys of the earth too many biggies stand with "one foot in the bucket," swing at the bad balls and try to steal second with the bases full. You see little of that among the sandlot emissaries. There isn't a secretary of state in the world who wouldn't inspire more general confidence appearing in a baseball suit, playing with the baseball spirit and letting his neck get a deeper tan. The United Nations weakest point is that not a delegate faintly reminds anybody on earth on Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner, Babe Ruth or Christy Mathewson. There isn't a Tris Speaker or Rogers Hornsby in a carload at a time in history when the uplift they gave to public spirits is desperately needed.

WHAT GIVES YOU greater happiness and more confidence in the future, the United Nations in serious session or eighteen smallfry in a tight ball game in a corner lot? (Don't answer. It's a foolish question.) The diplomats had better keep an eye on this situation. . . .

These touring sandlot teams can bring a bear market in striped pants and high hats. Even Dag Hammarskjold would impress us as being more of a threat to dictators if he developed a good curve and went for the fences.

There is only one thing in the picture that disturbs us. The American Legion, which chooses the best kid players, put scholarship ahead of baseball skill, or at least even. This violates every tradition of baseball history. It has always been felt that on the ball fields a good pair of hands and speed on the bases eclipsed marks in history and English. Still, we are not alarmed Our guess is that the boy hits .350 and is a hawk in the outfield will be in the lineup even if he has flunked spelling.

THE SHERATON CHAIN has bought 22 more hotels and is now close to Hilton. . . . It's a bed-to-bed finish.

Ex-Senator Loring Black died the other day and we remembered that when we landed in the big city as a green kid, he introduced us to golf, inviting us to Wheatley Hills where we embarrassed him by showing up in what we thought proper golf attire, store pants, sneakers and a stiff straw hat.

WE DIDN'T REALIZE until now that the old type of Casey Jones steam locomotive has disappeared so completely that the remaining ones are being put in museums, and it saddens us. . . . There was something about the steam locomotive that stirred boyhood . . . the distant whistle in the still of night . . . the chug-chug up a hill on slippery tracks . . . the blast of steam as it pulled out of the station . . . the glamor of the huge wheels, the driving shafts, the cowcatcher and all the visible gadgets outside the engine!

Local Government Debt Increases in Ohio, Auditor Says

Local government debt in Ohio amounted to $1,487,133,204 at the beginning of 1956, representing an increase of more than 118 million dollars during 1955, according to a report by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Total debt at the end of 1955 was more than three times as much as it was in 1945; nearly double the debt in 1950.

Marion, Crawford, Morrow, Delaware, Hardin and Union and all registered increases in local government debts in 1955. Wyandot County showed a decrease.

A comparison of debts for 1955 and 1954 are as follows, with the 1954 totals in parenthesis: Marion, $8,793,793 ($8,606,280); Morrow, $2,341,316 ($2,159,232); Union, $1,134,246 ($541,876); Hardin, $4,870,046 ($3,089,823); Crawford, $4,598,556 ($3,349,078); and Wyandot, $1,518,223 ($1,634,151).

City debt accounts for 46.60 per cent of the total local government debt, Mr. Rhodes reported, while school debt accounts for 41.42 per cent; county debt, 7.30 per cent; village debt, 4.5 per cent; and township debt, .18 per cent.

Counties with no county-government debt in 1955 include Crawford, Delaware and Wyandot. Seventeen counties reported no debt in any of their townships, Mr Rhodes said.

The soil should not be plowed or spaded in the spring until it is sufficiently dry to crumble when worked. The same standard should be applied later in seedbed preparation and cultivation.

These pretty chocolate eclairs can be made in advance so that you'll have time before your dinner or party to attend to last-minute details.

To be sure your first attempt will be a success, cook the mixture of pancake mix, water and shortening to a very stiff ball before adding any egg. Then beat in eggs one at a time, stirring vigorously after each addition. The baking temperature also is important to insure crisp shells with hollow interiors

Just before serving, fill them with ice cream, whipped cream or pudding and top with a rich chocolate sauce or crushed fruit.

To prepare the dough, use

1 cup water
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup pancake mix
4 eggs

Topping:

½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
⅓ cup light corn syrup
3 tablespoons light cream

Filling:

2 pints vanilla ice cream

Heat water and butter to boiling in saucepan. Quickly stir in pancake mix; beat vigorously over medium heat until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a ball. Allow to cook for about 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Spoon 12 ovals of batter (about 3 x ¾ inches) onto two greased cooky sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes or until firm and brown. Cool.

To serve, cut off tops; fill with ice cream and replace tops. Pour topping (made by combining ingredients and bringing to boil over low heat) over eclairs.

Car Leaves Road, Two Are Injured

BUCYRUS — Two Crawford County men were injured Sunday afternoon when the car in which they were riding ran off the road, tore down farm fencing and rolled over.

The men were Ralph E. Close, 41, of Galion, driver of the car, and George W. Clark, 18, of Shelby, a passenger.

State patrolmen from the Bucyrus post, said the accident happened at 2:10 p.m Sunday 1.2 miles north of Crestline on Route 61. They said Mr. Close was traveling south on the highway when his car left the road.

Mr. Close suffered a fractured left shoulder and lacerations of the left cheek. Mr. Clark suffered a brain concussion, possible skull fracture and lacerations of the base of the skull and lips, according to patrol reports.

Both men were taken to the Crestline Emergency Hospital.

CHICAGO (UP) — Housewives soon will make the morning toast in brightly colored toasters.

The five are lemon yellow, frosting pink, mint aqua, nougat gray and sugar white. The will all be finished in porcelain enamel.

Goat No Lamb, Creates Disturbance at School

URBANNA, Va. (AP)—Bonnie Lee Van Wagnen has a little goat. Its fleece is white and it followed her to school one day. There the similarity to Mary's little lamb ceases.

The goat—Billy—didn't wait patiently about nor did teacher turn it out. The goat, in fact, turned teacher in—back quickly into the second floor assembly hall after she stepped into the corridor to check on all the commotion

Assembly was disrupted until Bonnie and a few elementary school classmates demonstrated that goats aren't too dangerous and led Billy outside.

The Split T formation was introduced by Coach Johnny Vaught in the south in 1948.

Tribe Wins Finale After 15-Inning Opening Loss

Score To Oppose Gromek In Single Tilt With Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, weary from a marathon doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, returned here early today with their first victory of the season over Chicago and will open a three-game home stand at Municipal Stadium tonight.

Herb Score, the Tribe's strikeout artist, will be seeking his sixth victory against three losses when he takes the mound tonight against the Detroit Tigers. He will be opposed by Steve Gromek, who has won two games and lost three.

After a day of rest Tuesday, the Indians take on the White Sox in a Memorial Day doubleheader. They head east after that twin bill.

Cleveland's victory over the White Sox came in the nightcap of Sunday's doubleheader which the Indians salvaged 4-2 after losing the 15-inning opener 5-4 for their fourth straight loss to the Windy City team.

Lose 7-Hour Battle

The second game of what was supposed to be a daytime twin bill ended at 8:08 p.m., eastern standard time — seven hours and 38 minutes after the start of one of the longest doubleheaders on record. The first game, which lasted four hours and 52 minutes, was just six minutes short of the American League record—a 17-inning game between the Boston Red Sox and the Baltimore Orioles two years ago.

A two-out, run-scoring single by relief pitcher Jim Wilson gave the White Sox the first game decision after the Sox had tied the score at 4-4 in the ninth inning. The victory was Wilson's fifth against two losses. The loss was charged to reliefer Cal McLish, his first of the season against no wins.

Wilson's single scored Minnie Minoso from second. Making his first appearance for Chicago since he was acquired from Baltimore last week, Wilson came on in relief in the 14th inning.

Both teams scored a run in the first inning, but Al Smith's three-run homer in the fifth provided a 4-1 margin for Bob Lemon, who was after his seventh straight victory. The Sox knocked Lemon from the mound with a two-run rally in the seventh and tied the score two innings later on a run-scoring single by Nelson Fox.

Early Wynn gave up only five hits in the second game in posting his fifth triumph against two losses. The loser was Jack Harshman, who now has a 2-2 record for the season.

Wynn in Control

The Indians gave Wynn a run in the second inning on a walk to Rudy Regalado and a single by Jim Hegan. He held command after that, faltering only in the seventh when the White Sox scored their two runs.

Doubles by Jim Busby and Bob Avila gave Cleveland a run in the fifth and the Tribe added two more in the sixth on a single by Regalado, a double by Rocky Colavito and a single by Wynn.

Chicago got its runs on doubles by Minoso and Dave Philley and a single by Sherm Lollar.

Car Pulled From '500' In Protest

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Qualifications for the 500-mile auto race Wednesday were being re-opened for 63 minutes today over objections so bitter that one car already qualified was withdrawn from the race.

Chief mechanic Jean Marcenac announced that the Novi Vespa special qualified on the opening day of time trials by Paul Russo of Canago Park, Calif. was being withdrawn because the second Novi was not being given time to qualify.

The Novi automotive air conditioner special with Eddie Russo of Hammond, Ind. as the driver was too far back in the waiting lineup to have much chance of getting on the track within the 63 minutes.

The announcement came after a four-hour night session with track officials. Equally bitter objections came from crews of slower qualified cars that were threatened with elimination by extension of the qualifications into today.

The extension, unprecedented after a full field of 33 cars had qualified, resulted from rain which washed out Saturday time trials and allowed only 57 minutes of running Sunday.

With 29 cars qualified the previous weekend, 18 other cars were lined up Sunday for attempts to get into the lineup.

Closed Tuesday

Intermittent showers made it unlikely that everybody would have a chance at the 10-mile runs before the scheduled 6 p.m. closing time. Chief Steward Harry McQuinn announced that two full hours of qualifying time would be allowed, as weather permitted, up to 6 p.m. today. The track will be closed for cleaning Tuesday.

Only six cars got on the track between showers Sunday, leaving 12 in line today.

The four fastest Sunday that filled out the tentative lineup were driven by Cliff Griffith of Indianapolis, badly injured in a 1953 speedway wreck, 141.471 miles an hour; Johnnie Tolan, Denver, 140.061; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 139.093; and Duke Dinsmore, Dayton, Ohio, 138.430.

Only five newcomers to the speedway were in the tentative lineup—Tolan, who qualified the car he had wrecked May 20; Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif.; Jack Turner, Seattle; Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., and Billy Garrett.

Hanks Tops List

The 28 veterans were topped in experience by Sam Hanks, Burbank, Calif., who will start for the 11th time Wednesday; and three veterans of nine previous 500s—Fred Agabashian, Albany, Calif.; Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., and Paul Russo, Canago Park, Calif. None of them has ever won the rich Memorial Day race.

There are three former winners in the field. Bob Sweikert of Indianapolis, the defending champ; Troy Ruttman of Lynwood, Calif., 1952; and Johnnie Parsons, Van-Nuys, Calif., 1950.

Passes Up Canada

Cassady Will Play Pro Ball With Detroit Lions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, Ohio State's two-time All-America halfback, will play professional football for the Detroit Lions this year.

Cassady made the announcement Sunday after a conference with President Edwin J. Anderson and General Manager Nick Kerbaway of the Lions.

Cassady said he was passing up Canadian pro football offers and will sign a Detroit contract before the 1956 All-Star game.

"I learned to play my football here and I was named an All-America here," Cassady said referring to Canadian offers.

The two Detroit officials said they were "impressed" with Cassady's decision and that the contract will be signed between July 15 and 19.

Cassady, discussing his roles in Ohio State-University of Michigan contests, had this comment:

"It will also be nice to see Michigan fans change their attitude about me."

Yesterday's STARS

By The Associated Press

Batting — Stan Musial, Cardinals — Musial drove in seven runs with four hits, including a three-run homer to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-9 and 12-2 doubleheader victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Pitching — Art Ditmar, Kansas City — Ditmar scattered 10 hits and shut out Detroit 5-0 for Kansas City after the Tigers had won the opener 8-2.

Reds Move To Chicago For 2 Tilts

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbets of the Cincinnati Redlegs says he believes Brooklyn is the team to beat in the National League this year.

The season so far seems to bear Tebbets out — but in an unusual way—for the Reds have trimmed the world champions four straight so far this season without a loss.

And it's the Milwaukee Braves that have given the Redlegs the most trouble this year, licking Cincinnati five times against two losses.

The Braves pushed the Reds back down the National League ladder Sunday, 7-2, for Cincinnati's second loss in a row.

Milwaukee's wins were the low point of an otherwise relatively successful road trip for the Redlegs that had Cincinnati climbing close to the league lead.

The Braves Sunday beat the Reds at their strong point—hitting.

Milwaukee collected 14 hits off three pitchers while the Reds were held to eight singles and a double by Lew Burdette and Dave Jolly.

Art Fowler, who started, was relieved after four innings. Southpaw Paul Lapalme and Hershell Freeman mopped up.

The Reds got a rally started in the seventh inning, but it stalled when pinch hitter George Crowe was fanned by Burdette.

The loss dropped the Redlegs down to fourth place in the league, 2½ games back of the Cards, 1½ games back of the Braves and a half game behind the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Reds moved on to Chicago today for a two-game series with the Cubs, then shift to St. Louis for two more games before returning to Crosley Field next Friday.

Tebbets nominated Joe Nuxhall to oppose Chicago's Bob Rush today.

Gophers Take Big Ten Crown

By The Associated Press

Minnesota's power - packed Gophers didn't have to display their talents Saturday but nevertheless won the Big Ten baseball championship.

Minnesota's doubleheader with Indiana was rained out and automatially gave the Gophers their first Western Conference baseball title in 21 years.

Minnesota finished with an 11-2 mark and Ohio State wound up 9-3, beating Iowa 5-3 in their first game and tying 4-4 in a second game which was called at the end of 9 innings because of darkness.

Wisconsin clinched third place with a pair of victories over Purdue, 17-1 and 9-5; Michigan beat Michigan State twice, 7-3 and 2-1, to finish fourth and Illinois ended in the cellar after dropping a pair to Northwestern, 6-2 and 3-2.

Northwestern's late surge gave them fifth-place and Indiana ended sixth. Iowa, Michigan State and Purdue finished ahead of Illinois.

Special Holiday Races Scheduled at Richwood

The Richwood Race Club will stage a special Memorial Day program Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

A spokesman for the group said drivers would be shooting for a $100 purse and trophies. Regular races will be held Friday night he added. The track is located at the Richwood Fairgrounds.

Nats' Sparkplug

Roy Sievers Is Big Catch That Escaped Boston Club

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

If Manager Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox was feeling today like the fisherman who went out for a whale and came back with a couple of minnows, who can blame him?

Six months ago, the Red Sox engineered a deal with Washington, acquiring pitcher Bob Porterfield among others in exchange for five young players and cash. It seemed they had stripped the Senators of their best players but now it's evident the big catch got away. The big catch is first baseman Roy Sievers.

What a whale of a job of hitting Sievers has turned in against Red Sox pitching this season, especially at Fenway Park. In five Washington games at Boston, he has blasted 10 hits in 20 times at bat for a torrid .500 average. That's not all. He has scored 10 runs, clouted 5 home runs and 2 double and driven in 11 runs. He also had 4 for 8 and 3 RBIs in three games in Washington.

He really turned on the heat against Boston Sunday collecting five hits, scoring five runs and driving in five as Washington held the Red Sox to a split in their doubleheader. It was Roy's 10th-inning double that drove in Clint Courtney with the run that gave Washington an 11-10 second-game triumph after the Red Sox had come from behind to win the opener 9-7. The big St. Louisian homered in each game, the second four-bagger coming off Porterfield who failed to finish for the fourth time in five starts. He has a 1-3 record.

Musial on Rampage

Another St. Louisian, this one by adoption, had himself quite a time Sunday. Stan Musial snapped out of a slump with seven runs batted in on four hits, one a three-run homer, to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-9 and 12-2 doubleheader sweep over the Chicago Cubs. The twin triumphs boosted the Cards to within 11 percentage points of the top although they lead the first - place Milwaukee Braves by a full game.

Sparked by rookie first baseman Frank Torre's four straight hits, the Braves defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs 7-2. Because they have lost only nine games to St. Louis' 13, the Braves are in front in percentages, .640 to .629.

Rain washed out games between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and Brooklyn and New York.

Rain also forced postponement of the New York Yankee-Oriole game in Baltimore but the Yankees' 3½-game lead over Cleveland remained intact as the Chicago White Sox held the Indians to a split in their twin bill. In a first game that lasted four hours and 52 minutes—six minutes shy of the American League record—and 15 innings, the Sox nipped the Indians 5-4. Cleveland came back to win the second 4-2 behind Early Wynn's five-hitter.

Tigers, A's Split

The Detroit-Kansas City twin bill also ended in a split. After Al Kaline, Ray Boone and Charlie Maxwell had homered to spark the Tigers to an 8-2 triumph, Art Ditmar shut out Detroit 5-0 despite giving up 10 hits. Veteran

Bucs' Slugger Gets Raise for Record Spree

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dale Long, 30-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman who has achieved something baseball's greatest sluggers never accomplished, is a little bit awed by the fan reaction.

A $2,500 "merit raise" has been given Long as the result of his terrific batting, which includes belting seven homers in as many consecutive games for a major league record. Sometime before tonight's game with Brooklyn he expects to stop in the office of Pirate General Manager Joe Brown and sign a contract calling for $16,500.

But the awe of the fans over his achievements apparently is just as pleasing to Long as the money.

Shortly after Long had hit his seventh homer, against Philadelphia Saturday, Brown was on the phone to tell him he was getting a new contract—and the $2,500 raise. The big fellow said he was grateful he choked up.

Long had been kicked around baseball until he teamed up with Manager Bobby Bragan when Bragan was at Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League. Long says he thinks Bragan is "the greatest fellow in the world."

Long has been the spark which has kept the third-place Pirates in the thick of the National League race. He's the National League leader in three important departments: 13 home runs, a .419 batting average and 36 runs batted in.

Long has been in baseball since 1944. He played with nine minor league teams before getting his first chance with the Pirates in 1951. After playing only 10 games, he was waived out of the league and wound up with St. Louis in the American League.

St. Louis cut him loose and somehow he wound up in the Pirate chain again. He blossomed under Bragan in 1953 and 1954 at Hollywood and last year hit .291 as the Pirates regular first baseman.

Long's explanation for his outstanding showing this season is simple:

"Confidence, and the fact that I'm not trying to kill the ball like I once did."

outfielder Enos Slaughter helped Ditmar to his fourth victory with a single, double and triple.

The Cardinals mauled 11 Cub pitchers for 27 hits to gain a sweep of the three-game series. Bonus Baby Lindy McDaniel picked up his fourth win without a defeat in the opener, in relief, and Vinegar Bend Mizell also won his fourth with a five-hit, 10-strikeout performance in the nightcap.

Pitcher Jim Wilson, making his first appearance for the White Sox since he was acquired from Baltimore several days ago, won his own game with a two-out single in the 15th that drove in Minnie Minoso with the winning run. Wilson had taken over in relief in the 14th and picked up his fifth triumph.

Tom Brewer survived a rough first inning, when Washington scored five times, to record his sixth triumph in seven decisions. The young pitcher slammed a three-run homer in the third, climaxing a seven-run outburst.

PROBLEM SOLVED

JASPER, Ind. (INS) — Motorboating and fishing fans had a bitter argument over their rights in a newly-created lake settled with complete fairness by the city board. The board decided that the lake, built to provide a water supply, will be open to neither this year.

ASPHALT
can stand lots of pounding . . .
lots of heavy traffic!
That's why engineers specify this rugged, durable material for both new construction and resurfacing.
They know that Asphalt can take it . . . they know that new years of life can be added to an old highway with a low-cost Asphalt half-sole.
Funds which would otherwise be needed to rebuild cracked and broken slab-type pavements can now be diverted to new construction . . . thanks to Asphalt half-soling.
That's why, today, 4 out of 5 miles of paved highways are surfaced with Asphalt.

Prexies Rated 11th After State Track Contest

Harding High School's track and field squad finished in a deadlock for 11th spot against rugged competition in the state high school track meet at Columbus Saturday.

Coach Ken Somerlot's harriers failed to place in any event after Gary Huber's record discus toss Friday but were near scoring in several events.

Somerlot described the 47th event as "probably the best and closest meet" in years and pointed out today that the Class A title was won with the lowest point total in history.

Tie for Top Spot

Akron North, a participant in the annual Marion Night Relays here, and Cleveland John Adams tied for first with 19 markers. Another Cleveland entry, East Tech, was a close third with 17 points.

Harding with six points tied Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Berea, Shaker Heights, Columbus Grandview and Warren Harding for 11th. Cuyahoga Falls with eight and Columbus East and Lakewood, both with seven, nosed out the Prexies. Other squads finishing ahead of Harding were Springfield with 14 1-5 points, Cleveland Rhodes and Dayton Roosevelt, both with 13, and Fremont Ross with 12 on a pair of firsts by Jim Tiller, acclaimed the Class A meet's top star.

Dan Fosnaugh soared over the bar at 11-6 in the pole vault for a sixth place finish, one spot away from scoring. His attempt to clear 12 feet was taken in the rain which made the poles slippery for the vaulters. A 12-6 effort by John Hlady of Warren Harding won the event, with five tying for third at 12 feet.

Bruce Roberts cleared 5-10 in the high jump, three inches off a tie for fifth. Carl Burns placed second in the first heat of the mile event with a 4:35 clocking but was sixth in the finals. Louie Butler ran 4:36 but finished near the rear of his heat after a bad final quarter.

Quartermiler Ted Firstenberger ran 51.3 in his speciality but failed to place. His time was 1.4 seconds off the winning time of 49.9 set by Dave Hills of Lakewood. Firstenberger got off to a slow start and was unable to make it up.

To Present Trophy

Somerlot today explained the past track campaign was the "greatest track season we've ever had" and said selection of the outstanding senior of 1956 for the Ferguson trophy is the final remaining chore.

Two athletes who performed against Harding during the past season gained firsts at the state meet. Tiller of Buckeye Conference foe Fremont won the broad jump with a 23-1½ leap and captured the 100-yard dash in 9.8. Akron North's Harlin was second in the 100 and won the 220 in 21.6. Sandusky's Latham Stowers was second to Tiller in the broad jump with a 22-10 jump.

In the Class B division, Richwood finished sixth with 6½ points. Two other area schools, Marysville and Sycamore, also garnered points. Xenia Woodrow Wilson, with a 43½ point total, won the Class B track title with Cincinnati DePorres second with 35.

WASTED EFFORT

CLINTON, Ind. (INS) — Women around the world could sympathize with Mrs. Domenic Avenatti who while watching a fire destroy her home could only lament: "I'd never have spent half the night ironing if I had known this was going to happen."

Johnny Lipon Guides Jets to Twin Verdicts

By The Associated Press

Johnny Lipon of the Columbus Jets may be a little slow at 33 for the majors but he's still capable of coming through with performances that has labelled him an "old pro" in the International League.

The former infield star of the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers played a major role in the Jets two triumphs over the Havana Sugar Kings Sunday. They won the opener 1-0 and the nightcap 5-4 to complete a three-game rout of the Cubans and moved back into the first division.

The Jets' captain accepted 19 chances with only one error in the two games, started a triple and two double plays and scored the lone run in the first game. Then in the second he climaxed a brilliant day by driving home the winning run in the last inning.

The Rochester Red Wings lost a chance to close in on the league leading Montreal Royals when they dropped a doubleheader to the seventh place Buffalo Bisons, 5-4 and 7-5. Montreal's two games with Toronto were rained out but the Royals' lead was increased to three games.

Miami's Marlins continued their surge by downing the Virginians from Richmond 7-6 in a single game.

Tribe Signs Ernst

CINCINNATI (AP) —Dick Ernst, former Ohio State University baseball star, is slated to report for minor league service after signing Sunday with the Cleveland Indians.

Ernst, who batted .374 for OSU in 1953, reports to Keokuk of the Class B Three-I League next Thursday. He was discharged from the Navy Saturday and signed the Indian agreement shortly after arriving home Sunday.

Prep School League To Open; Prospect's Diamond Improved

Prospect Community Park is undergoing a face lifting project for the summer baseball season.

An improvement project, carried on by residents of the community under the direction of the Prospect Baseball Commission, will give the village on of the area's top baseball diamonds.

New dugouts have been constructed and new seats are planned before the season is too far along. Permanent seats will be along the first base line while a temporary bleacher will furnish seats on the opposite side. The lighting arrangement has been improved by the installation of one new pole and the moving of two others. A cyclone fence will be constructed along the right and left foul lines while a snow fence will enclose the entire outfield.

Labor and materials used in the remodeling work have been donated by parents of teenage players and other interested individuals and firms in the Prospect area.

Share Tickets Sold

Share Tickets, similiar to those sold by the Baseball for Boys Commission in Marion, were sold by the Prospect group to help obtain funds for the project.

Main use of the diamond this summer will be by the newly-organized Marion County Baseball League. That circuit is composed of eight Marion County schools. Only boys who will be high school students next year are eligible This, of course, rules out members of this year's graduating classes. Schools competing in the league are Claridon, Caledonia, New Bloomington, Prospect, Meeker, Green Camp, Pleasant and Morral.

Maurice Young, Green Camp High School coach, is top man in the new league, serving as president, vice president and secretary. All games during the season will be played at 8 p.m. with one game being played each night Monday through Thursday. One round of games will be played and after completion of the regular season the trophy winner will play the league all-stars on July 14. The league currently is making a concerted efforts to locate umpires for the games. A spokesman added that a preliminary game, pitting the schools' sixth, seventh and eighth graders, would be held prior to each session. The prelims are scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

One Game Played

The league session has its official opening tonight when Claridon tangles with Caledonia. However, due to senior class trips scheduled this week, Meeker and Morral jumped the gun Friday night with Morral taking a 10-0 win behind the no-hit pitching of Warren Hensel and Dick Craycraft. The game originially was scheduled as part of a double header Memorial Day. Green Camp will meet Pleasant in the Wednesday single game.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows: June 4, Caledonia-New Bloomington; June 5, Prospect-Meeker; June 6, Claridon-Pleasant; June 7, Morral - Green Camp; June 11 New Bloomington-Meeker; June 12, Caledonia-Morral; June 13, Prospect-Pleasant; June 14, Claridon-Green Camp; June 18, Caledonia-Prospect; June 19, New Bloomington - Pleasant; June 20, Meeker-Green Camp; June 21, Morral-Claridon; June 25, Caledonia-Pleasant; June 26, Prospect-Morral; June 27, New Bloomington-Green Camp; June 28, Claridon-Meeker; July 2, Morral-Pleasant; July 3, Caledonia - Meeker; July 4, Claridon-New Bloomington at 1 p.m. and Prospect-Green Camp 3 p.m; July 9, Meeker-Pleasant; July 10, Caledonia-Green Camp; July 11, Caledonia - Prospect; July 12, New Bloomington-Morral.

Pitcher Notches 4 Whiffs in 1 Inning

ST. LOUIS (AP) —Jim Davis, Chicago Cub relief pitcher, joined five other pitchers Sunday who have performed the feat of striking out four batters in one inning.

In the sixth inning of Sunday's first game between Chicago and St. Louis, Wally Moon doubled and stole third. Davis struck out Hal Smith and Jackie Brandt. Pitcher Lindy McDaniel also fanned, but catcher Hobie Landrith missed the third strike and McDaniel reached first and Moon scored on the error.

Davis then fanned Don Blasingame for his fourth victim of the inning.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic—

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflow*

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't You can have Dynaflow smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you press the pedal barely an inch—

The instant new full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Sen. Gore Rips Highway Plan As Inequitable

Present System for Funds Allocation Is Satisfactory, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) today denounced as "highly inequitable" a House-approved plan for allocating federal interstate highway funds among the states.

In a speech prepared for Senate debate on the highway bill, he called instead for a continuation of the present allocation plan which he said "has the merit of having worked satisfactorily for two years."

Hope To Finish Tuesday

The Senate was striving to complete action on the multibillion-dollar highway construction and taxing bill by Tuesday night, in advance of the Memorial Day holiday.

There appeared to be little advance controversy over tax provisions of the bill, which would increase the federal gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents a gallon and boost levies also on tires, trucks, buses, diesel fuel, trailers and tread rubber.

The taxes are designed to raise an estimated 14½ billion dollars, in addition to the yield of present highway user taxes, to finance the expanded road building program.

Extra Aid Proposed

Part of the federal money would go for extra aid to states on primary, secondary and urban roads, but the greatest part, about 25 billions, would go for a 40,000-mile network of interstate highways, most of them four-and six-lane roads. The federal government would pay 90 per cent of the cost of these.

Gore, author of a highway bill passed by the Senate last year, sought to continue the present formula of allocating interstate funds to states based two thirds on population, one sixth on area and one sixth on road mileage. The Senate Public Works Committee wrote that plan into the Senate bill.

The House bill would divide up the money on the basis of the needs of the states to complete their portions of the interstate system, as reported last year to the Bureau of Public Roads.

Gore, terming that system unfair, said it would penalize states that submitted conservative estimates and reward those that submitted "unusually high, and perhaps unrealistic, estimates."

Steel

Today's negotiations are the first of a series that will affect some 650,000 union members employed by 172 basic steel and iron ore producing firms whose contracts expire June 30.

The program calls for afternoon talks with Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel and negotiations Tuesday with Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Inland and Great Lakes Steel.

McDonald already has said the union will seek higher wages, extra pay for Saturday and Sunday work, a layoff pay plan, a union shop and a company-paid insurance program.

Union economists say the proposals would cost the steel industry an additional "two or three" dimes an hour for each worker. Industry representatives say they might cost as much as 60 cents an hour.

Street Dance Is Held in Spite Of Rain Here

A portion of a scheduled 8 to 11 p.m. street dance in downtown Marion Saturday night was held despite rainy weather.

Planned as a highlight of a three-day Spring Automobile Fashion Festival staged by the Marion County Automobile Dealer's Association, the dance was delayed in starting from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. by intermittent showers.

At 9 p.m. when the showers stopped for a while, Okey Ripley announced the winners of a safety contest sponsored by association in connection with the festival. After this a number of persons braved the weather for an hour of dancing until rained out shortly after 10 p.m.

Symington Is Top Choice of Missouri Dems

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri Democrats hoped to touch off a presidential boom today for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Symington said he would accept the nomination.

He said he is not a candidate. He said he would not campaign for the nomination. He was asked if he would refuse it, and said:

"Of course not. No citizen should."

Symington and about 1,600 delegates were here for the Democratic State Convention, which will pick 76 delegates with half a vote each at the party's nominating convention in Chicago Aug. 13.

The state committee was ready with a proposal Missouri's votes be cast for Symington as a "favorite son" candidate, with delegates pledged to stick with him as long as there is any chance he might win.

Symington already has picked up scattered backing as a dark horse candidate in the event the Chicago convention goes into a deadlock.

Air Gun Used To Break Windows at Home Here

Some youths who were driving around Marion over the weekend shooting out windows with a compressed air gun were the object of a search by police and sheriff's deputies.

Police said they received a report from Shelvin Nickols at 306 S. Seffner Ave. that someone shot a pellet through his front window and sheriff's deputies received a report that a window at 786 Bexley Ave. was broken out similarly.

Other residents on S. Seffner Ave. also reported attempts to break their windows, police said.

Witnesses said the youths were driving a black and white car down the street and shooting at the windows from the moving car, police said.

Pro-Western Factions Lead In Italy Voting

Election Seen Test of West Europe Attitude On New Soviet Line

ROME (AP)—Italy's pro-Western center parties took a substantial lead over the Communist-socialist left today in fragmentary early returns from nationwide local elections.

The figures were so scattered, however, they could not be interpreted as a firm trend.

The voting turnout in the elections, watched as a test of West European reaction to Moscow's new coexistence line, was heavy. It was estimated 90 per cent of those eligible may have cast ballots. This circumstance seemed to favor the center parties.

At stake were control of 6,587 community and provincial councils from the Alps to Sicily, local posts in 563 other communities and provincial governments in 533. The candidates totaled 313,601.

Tyrolean Trent, the first province to report, showed strong gains by both the Christian Democrats of Premier Antonio Segni and the Communist-allied Socialists of Pietro Nenni. The area long has been a Christian Democrat stronghold.

The Catholic Church's interest in an anti-Communist victory, voiced repeatedly by the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano was evidenced by the thousands of nuns and priests among the early voters.

Former President Truman was an interested spectator. Now visiting Italy as a tourist, he drove past a number of polling places in Florence but didn't get out of his car. He said he "did not want to interfere in any way."

Results in the last local elections were:

Christian Democrats and center-party allies, 3,878 communities; Communists and allied Socialists, 1,733; Monarchists, Fascists and right independents, 1,465.

Turns on Briggs

When Briggs got back to the house on his tractor, the fight had moved from the upstairs to the yard and Briggs attempted to persuade Blanton to go home.

Blanton then turned on Briggs, the sheriff said, cutting him across an arm with the knife he was wielding. VanVlerah, in an effort to help Briggs, who is of small stature and physically handicapped, picked up a club and came at Blanton who, in turn, again went after VanVlerah.

Mrs. Briggs had, in the meantime, gotten hold of a .22 caliber rifle and reportedly fired it into the air to scare off Blanton, the sheriff said.

Briggs then grabbed the gun from his wife and went to the aid of VanVlerah. Blanton, seeing him coming, turned to attack Briggs again and was subsequently shot down, the sheriff said.

County Coronor E. H. Morgan went to the scene of the shooting with Sheriff Obenour and County Prosecutor Ralph E. Carhart ordered the autopsy.

Fact and Fancy

By George Sokolsky

We have read numerous explanations as to why the Russians claim to be disbanding 1,200,000 troops. Some of the explanations are exceedingly complicated, involving perhaps a Freudian explanation of the intricacies of Khrushchev's mind, to say nothing of the minds of Marshals Bulganin and Zhukov.

SOKOLSKY

Why not try to guess at a simple explanation, one that comes close to what could be the truth because it might also be the truth here, namely, that foot-soldiers, except as policemen, have been made obsolete by the new weapons, and that the Russians are trying to save some money by getting rid of expensive but obsolete means of warfare?

-:-

SURELY, IN TERMS of logic, this is as probable an explanation as the various ones that come out of Washington. The government of the United States still maintains about 1,300,000 foot-soldiers despite the inventions of the bombs and missiles which make a foot-soldier as useless as the horse-soldier became after the tank was made available.

All the arguments that are now being used to continue having an enormous and costly army of foot-soldiers were used to preserve the horse-soldier, the principal one being

"Who ever heard of an army without horses?"

To this the answer could be that Hannibal used elephants and Caesar never heard of an airplane nor did Napoleon know that one bomb from an airplane could wipe out an entire city and so contaminate the remains that nothing in it could live and no army could occupy it.

FROM THAT standpoint, would it not be logical for the Russian Presidium, looking around for some place to cut expenses, to conclude that as they have to spend a lot of money on bombs and guided missiles, they might just as well cut out most of the obsolete parts of their military forces, those parts which were valuable prior to the development of the unconventional weapons of war which will surely be used in the next war, if one takes place? And if no war takes place, what good are foot-soldiers except to provide frightening statistics and parades on occasions"

One of the advantages that the Russians have over us is that their government is unified and if something needs to be done, they do not have to squabble in public on the subject.

For instance, we have at least two active policy-making departments that conduct foreign policy: One is the State Department headed by John Foster Dulles; the other is an agency without explicit description headed by Harold Stassen. Whenever the opportunity offers itself, Mr. Stassen contradicts Mr. Dulles which makes everything clear to nobody.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has confidence in both men and in their contradictions which he apparently understands. At any rate, although Mr. Stassen was, in effect, voted out of office by Congress abolishing his job, the President created a new one for him which Mr. Stassen fills by going about looking for peace and disarmament, but he has not suggested that the taxpayers' money be saved by abolishing obsolete but expensive instruments of war. He has been a very firm advocate of inspection from the air which Khrushchev described as silly in his angry conversations with the British Socialists whom he disdained as inferior Mensheviks and therefore spoke freely in their presence.

What he said was unpleasant and pointedly designed to indicate that those who believe that they can see what is happening in Yakutsk or Alma-Ata by flying over them need to study geography all over again, if they ever knew it. A tough guy is Khrushchev.

ONE OF THE CONCEPTS of the peace department of our government is that the only way to counter the new Russian international trade offensive is to increase foreign aid, about 60 per cent of nearly 5 billion dollars a year to go to our allies in NATO and SEATO and probably METO. The question then arises: Is NATO alive or dead? Has this device vitality or is it obsolete?

It was supposed to produce an enormous number of divisions, about 100 in Europe when it was founded in 1949. Precisely how many divisions does, NATO control now, or how many can it count on against Soviet Russia?

So here again, we need some realistic thinking. We might even ask, who are our allies? And what a shock such a question could be if answered realistically.

GOP in N. Dakota Electing Delegates

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — North Dakota Republicans today held their second state convention in less than two months, and the session was expected to last only a few hours.

The assembly, required by state law in presidential election years, will select the state's 14 GOP National Convention delegates, elect a national committeeman and committeewoman and name four presidential electors.

Early in April, North Dakota Republicans met to endorse their candidates for state and national offices.

North Dakota has no presidential preference election and traditionally sends its delegates to the GOP National Convention with no formal commitments. State Republican leaders, polled by newsmen, have indicated they favor an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Missiles Vital, Declares Viscount Montgomery

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery predicts that guided missiles will take over half the wartime work of long-range bombers within 10 years and will replace 70 per cent of the tactical air forces.

The deputy supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe told a news conference here Sunday night:

"We are advancing toward the day when the principal vehicles for the delivery of firepower will be the missile."

He warned that military leaders "must avoid planning for the next war in terms of the last war."

Unionizing Police

By Victor Riesel

The big drive is on to unionize the police

One of these days, in scores of cities across the land when plainclothesmen are asked to identify themselves, they will be able to pull out AFL-CIO dues-books along with their shields.

VICTOR RIESEL

For, strangely enough, the push to organize the nation's 270,000 police officers is one of the first nationally coordinated campaigns to be launched by the six-months-old merged labor federation.

The police have been the target of unions before—from Calvin Coolidge's days in Boston to Mike Quill's short-lived venture in New York. None were successful. Even the volatile Mr. Quill failed to notch many nightsticks.

THE CURRENT drive does look like it's picking up real speed, for the organizing union already has 70 locals of police officers in major cities from coast to coast Among those which have police unions are such widely scattered communities as Hartford and New Haven, Portland, Ore ; Denver, Little Rock, Duluth and St. Paul, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane, Meridian, Chattanooga and Omaha.

Triggering this new drive is the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes—a union whose president, Arnold Zander, a bright, unassuming chap, is the only national labor leader in the country with a Ph.D.

The union faces its biggest battle in New York. The fight for the city's 25,000 "finest," the nation's largest police force, is being watched with keen interest by political leaders in dozens of important industrial centers in the north, where elections have been won because of labor money and manpower.

IF THE POLICE union can persuade the New York City administration to permit cops to join labor organizations, it will set off chain reaction that can affect at least every northern metropolis of any size.

The Administrative Code of New York specifically prevents cops from joining unions. Similar Police Dept. regulations are based on that code. The union's target, therefore, is to force the city to amend the code. Sitting in the hot spot is New York's mayor, Robert F. Wagner.

Mayor Wagner was elected by strong labor backing. He'll need union support for his future campaigns for the governor's chair or a seat in the Senate.

Challenging the mayor is the union's fiery eastern representative, Jerry Wurf. Mr. Wurf has been battling politicos for the past decade on behalf of his civil service membership. He knows the ropes and doesn't scare easily.

MR. WURF IS DEMANDING that Wagner change the Administrative Code. "Mayor Wagner told the AFL-CIO merger convention last December that New York is a union town and he is proud of it," he says. "Now let him prove it. Cops are not second class citizens. There is no reason why other city employes should have the right to join unions while cops are deprived of the same privilege."

The union official insists that the basic issue is not wages and hours but the fact that, "There are no legitimate grievance procedures to protect the policemen on their jobs."

Mr. Wurf is busy signing up cops and plans a relentless battle against the mayor. This puts Mayor Wagner in a tough delemma. If he decides to buck Wurf's union and prevent cops from joining, he runs the risk of bringing the wrath of the entire labor movement in the city down on his head.

IF HE GIVES IN and agrees to a change in the Administrative Code, he runs the risk of antagonizing the top brass in his Police Department. They, like police officials in many other cities, have been leery of police unions since the Boston cops went out on strike in 1919. They have feared a repetition of that walkout.

Mr. Wurf points out that there can be no police strikes, since his union totally forbids such moves. The right to strike is voluntarily forfeited and each member who signs up does so with that clear understanding. Mr. Wurf also sharply rejects claims that organized cops would side with unions in labor disputes. He says that the experience of his union's 70 police locals throughout the country proves that they show strict impartiality.

Behind the big union push is the knowledge that as New York's "finest" go—so go the cops of the nation. A victory here will spread to other cities.

Home Again

By Hal Boyle

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Once upon a time there was a boy born here 100 years old at his birth Or so he always felt.

HAL BOYLE

He was the youngest of eight children, the "baby" in the family. He was a strange child, thin and pale-faced, and given to long brooding silences He wore dresses until he was at least 3. His mother didn't let him cut his shoulder length curls until he was nearly 9

His father, who carved and sold tombstones, could quote Shakespeare and the Bible endlessly. These things may have helped give the boy his early preoccupation with death and time and literature

The boy, Tom Wolfe, grew into a raw-boned giant 6 feet 5½. His mind matched his stature In a lonely room in London he wrote a classic first novel, "Look Homeward, Angel," which told of his lost youth—and every man's heart hunger for a previous time gone by.

HE WAS JUST 29, and the world acclaimed him as a new literary titan. But many folks here thought Tom had been too brutally frank in portraying both his family and his townspeople.

For years Tom felt himself an outcast, more lost and lonely than ever. But before his death in 1938 time softened the anger of citizens here, and today he is recognized as Asheville's most famous son.

The town has made a museum of the old rambling 22-room white clapboard house in which he dreamed as a boy, and in which his mother, Julia, sometimes cooked for as many as 35 to 40 summer boarders

Thousands of visitors make a pilgrimage here each year. They are people who loved Tom through his books, which still sell widely They range from garage mechanics to college presidents, but many are young students

"The younger generation thinks he's wonderful," said Wolfe's sister, Mrs. Mabel Wheaton, who showed me through the old home

Mrs Wheaton, who is 10 years older than Tom and was the closest member of the family to him in life, resembles him physically. She is tall and shares his tremendous energy, his gusto for living. She was a singer in her youth.

"Tom always said he was 100 years old when he was born," she said, "and I think he really was."

—:—

SHE GUIDED ME into the parlor past two fading hallway mottoes that said, "Do Right and Fear Not" and "Peace be Unto This House"

She sat down at an ancient upright piano and played a few bars from Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer."

"The whole family used to like to sing that," she remarked. "Tom liked all tuneful things"

The old-fashioned furniture was marked with the signs of much usage. Everything in the house bore the signature of vigorous past life.

Mabel led me to the room in which had been put Tom's furniture from his New York apartment and his two typewriters. His worn leather briefcase leaned against a table leg on the floor, as if he had left it there only a moment before and would soon be back The furniture was old and worn.

"Tom really never had anything fine in his life," said his sister, and I felt sad.

After leaving Mrs. Wheaton I went out to Riverside Cemetery where Tom, who always felt lost, now can be found by any stranger. He is buried in a robin-loud woodland setting by his father and mother, and on his tombstone is this apt quotation from one of his own books:

"Death Bent to Touch His Chosen Son With Mercy, Love and Pity, and Put the Seal of Honor on Him When He Died."

Tom, who once in his loneliness wrote "You Can't go Home Again," did, in fact, after "The Tumult, the Fever, and the Fret," come back to the only home he ever knew, the temple of the past in which time stands still forever.

Toledo Firm's Suit Set For U.S. Claims Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed a bill to let the Court of Claims decide how much money—if any—the government owes Graphic Arts Corp. of Ohio, a Toledo firm.

A previous bill asked the government to pay the company $84,359 19 in settlement of its claim for losses on a contract to make blueprints during the war for the Air Force at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton.

This bill was vetoed by President Truman in 1950. Now the firm can go to the Court of Claims for a settlement.

Building Level Is High, Federal Reserve Says

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board says construction activity in the early months of 1956 continued to be a strong factor in the nation's economy

At the end of April, the board said, new construction was at an annual rate of 42 billion dollars on a seasonally adjusted basis

This was not far below the record high of last summer but was attributed primarily to plans for business and industrial expansion

The "tight money" situation was felt primarily in the residential building field, the federal reserve s monthly bulletin said, with both the number of dwelling starts and the money outlays below levels of 1955

LeMay Visions Soviets at Peak Power by 1959

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen Curtis LeMay says Russia will equal this country in total bomber forces by 1958 and might be able to knock out the United States with a surprise attack the following year

LeMay heads the U S Strategic Air Command His testimony before a special Armed Services subcommittee headed by Sen Symington (D-Mo) was made public during the weekend after censoring by the Defense Department

His statement that Russia might be able to deliver a knockout blow by 1959 was softened by the observation that "I don't think this is possible to happen"

But he said under questioning it could happen "if everything went in his (the Russians') favor and we made all the mistakes possible to make and we were caught completely by surprise on the ground ' Under such circumstances, he said, "we would have practically nothing left to do any retaliating with"

LeMay said "his own bomber command's greatest need now is more skilled technicians, then more bases and jet air tankers and finally more long range B52 jet bombers

PLANT TOWN Twice a Month 1955
THE BANKS WHERE STEEL BANKS
in hundreds of cities across U.S.A.
PAY TO THE ORDER OF Our Employees $195,000,000.00
One hundred ninety-five million and no/100 DOLLARS
The Steel Companies

Steel writes a pay check like this twice a month

That's a big check.

Most pay days it's even bigger. Some pay days it may be a little less. But in 1955, for instance, the total paid out for employment costs in the steel industry and its affiliated interests was almost 4.7 billion dollars.

About 90 per cent of that was paid directly to employees and the rest was set aside for their pensions, insurance and other benefits.

The 4.7 billion dollars was an average of $5,806 per year per employee.

And the steel companies, in 1955, wrote another series of checks that totalled more than 6 billion dollars for the materials and services needed to keep the steelworkers employed.

Any way you figure it, close to 11 billions of dollars from the steel companies alone, went directly to the workers or was paid out for materials.

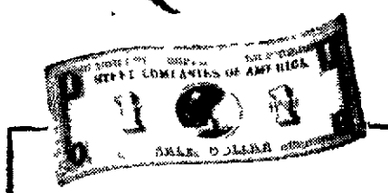
Thus, wages and materials alone accounted for close to 11 billions of the total 14 billions received by the steel companies from sales, services and all other sources. As the chart at the right shows, this was 77.1 per cent of every dollar taken in.

Then, with what was left over, the steel companies had to pay taxes and interest and allow for depreciation costs before any money was available for expansion, reinvestment in the business or dividends.

Meanwhile the country's needs for steel increase daily. To meet this need the steel companies are expanding their production capacity to increase it 15 million tons in just three years. This will cost more than a billion dollars this year alone. Expansion will mean more jobs, bigger payrolls.

It all leads unerringly to one conclusion —

America and Steel Must Grow Together



Out of each dollar Steel took in, in 1955, from sales, services and investments . . .

43.6 cents was paid out for materials and services

33.5 cents was paid out for employment costs

9.8 cents was paid out for taxes and interest

5.3 cents was set aside for plant depreciation

4.7 cents was reinvested in the business

3.1 cents was paid out for dividends to stockholders

Baccalaureate and commencement exercises at all Marion County schools have taken place and summer vacations have begun. City schools are busily preparing for the end of their year's activities and final assembly programs, picnics, parties and tours of business concerns are highlighting the final official week of this school year.

—Glenwood—

Fourth grade pupils had an indoor picnic Friday and sixth graders are making final plans for a tea to be held at 2 p.m. Thursday. An intramural softball tournament was recently held at Glenwood, while a similar contest was taking place in the Silver St. School. Tonight the best teams from both schools will play each other, while on Friday the best players from each place will face each other. On Tuesday, June 5, movies will be shown of the recent school patrol trip to Washington, D. C.

—George Washington—

Sixth grade pupils at George Washington School will present a farewell tea for their parents and former teachers this week. To be honored are Mrs. Estella Lloyd and Miss Wanda McMahan, teachers; Mrs. Clarence Gross, Mrs. LeRoy Kohlhorst, Mrs. Elmer Schultz and Mrs. Clifford Leffler, room mothers; and Miss Philomen Gregg, school principal. David Kohlhorst will be master of ceremonies; Judy Gross will lead devotions. Billy Baker will present the flag salute and Glenda Farquear will welcome the guests. Mrs. Hutchman will respond. A dance will be performed by Ann Hutchman and Devonah Long, and Joan Holliday will play a piano solo. Nancy Shultz will give the library report and sixth grade members will sing a medley of songs. A physical education demonstration will be followed by appropriate remarks by Miss Gregg and refreshments will be served.

The junior group includes Nancy Augenstein, Jean Fogle, Cindy Groll, Sondra Henry, Kathleen Oborn, Janet Ravencraft, Carolyn Schultz, Harley Holt, Merrill Miller, Art Ruth and Dan Stratton.

—Martel—

The Gay Teenagers Home Economics Club of Martel High School, under the supervision of Mrs. Evelyn Guinther, held its final meeting of the year last weekend. Linda Moodespaugh presided; Jewell Grimes read the secretary's report. Meetings will continue through the summer, with the June gathering to be a picnic at which next year's freshmen girls and those in home economics classes three and four will be guests. Martel school Supt. Clayton Barden was a guest.

Youth Admits Dropping Log in Path of Cruiser

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State police say an 18-year-old youth has admitted he dropped a 30-pound log from an overpass onto a patrol car chasing "drag racers."

Trooper Bert F. Morris, who was chasing the racers Sunday on the Daniel Boone Expressway, suffered cuts of both hands but escaped serious injury by swerving as the log struck the car. It smashed the right side of the windshield, showering the inside with glass fragments.

By JOHN CROSBY

Journey Through Africa

Edward R. Murrow's two-part "Report on Africa" was a massive film document on a teeming, turbulent and terribly newsworthy continent. In fact, it was the most ambitious enterprise yet undertaken by the Murrow office and it was on the whole a mighty impressive achievement.

JOHN CROSBY

The Murrow cameras ranged from the Gold Coast down through the explosive South Africa and up the East Coast through Kenya and then through the Nile countries—Egypt, Ethiopia and the Sudan—and finally all over troubled North Africa. Some 200,000 feet of film was shot and this had to be boiled down to 11,000 feet for the two one-hour shows.

FEW AMERICANS WHO saw it could have failed to have come away with a far greater understanding of a continent which is going to loom larger and larger in the world's plans.

Murrow's men—Alexander Kendrick and Blair Clark—interviewed scores of people from prime ministers to plain folk, examining the numerous ills of this awakening continent. Everywhere they discovered that the word of the hour was freedom—freedom from colonialism, freedom from white rule, freedom from exploitation.

Appropriately, Murrow started in Liberia, the only Negro republic on this continent. But as John Gunther reported in "Inside Africa," freedom in itself is not a panacea for everything. Some of the worst exploitation of Negro against fellow Negro can be found in Liberia, much of it far worse than that of white against Negro in other parts of Africa.

In fact, while Murrow doesn't quite go so far as to say it, you get the idea not only in Liberia but everywhere that if every white man were to leave Africa tomorrow, Africa's problems, far from being ended, would be multiplied.

IN KENYA, the cameras looked in on a prison camp where Mau Mau terrorists were being rehabilitated to be restored to useful life in the community. In the Belgian Congo, "colonialism at its best" was examined with some scepticism. The Congo natives have it all over their brethren elsewhere in standard of living but politically they have no voice at all and are not likely to get any soon.

Egypt, Murrow pointed out that its "rampant nationalism" obscures the real issue which is the country's serfdom to the Nile which steals its topsoil and sweeps it into the Mediterranean. "Our country used to build pyramids," observed Premier Nasser dryly. "Now we are thinking of building dams."

In Algeria where 250,000 French troops are fighting an estimated 20,000 armed Algerians, Blair Clark interviewed a French farmer, all of whose French neighbors have either been killed by terrorists or who have fled. The Frenchman read a letter from the underground condemning him to death.

IN SOUTH AFRICA where Prime Minister Strijdom's apartheid has tried to set the clock back 100 years, one of the most moving sights was that of a group of mature, well-dressed white women who call themselves the Women of the Black Sash. They stand in straight ranks, motionless and silent, whenever Strijdom enters or leaves a building.

The silent disapproval strikes you like a blow. In fact, Strijdom may be the only man in public life who would not be troubled by this silent reproach. His ministers have taken to entering and leaving by side doors.

Naturally, on a subject so huge there would have to be omissions. The most glaring omission, I should say, was that the cameramen didn't get into the villages enough. To understand the vastness of Africa's problem, you have to get a glimpse of the tribal Negores who make up so much of Africa's 200,000,000 population and whose primitivism, almost animalism, has to be seen to be believed.

Nevertheless, the measure of Murrow's achievement can be taken only by comparing his films to those travelogues we all looked at in the movie houses for years, those blurry pictures of water lapping at Pacific islands, dancing natives, and palm trees, and that hopelessly syrupy narration. The documentary has come a long, long way from that. It still has some distance to travel.

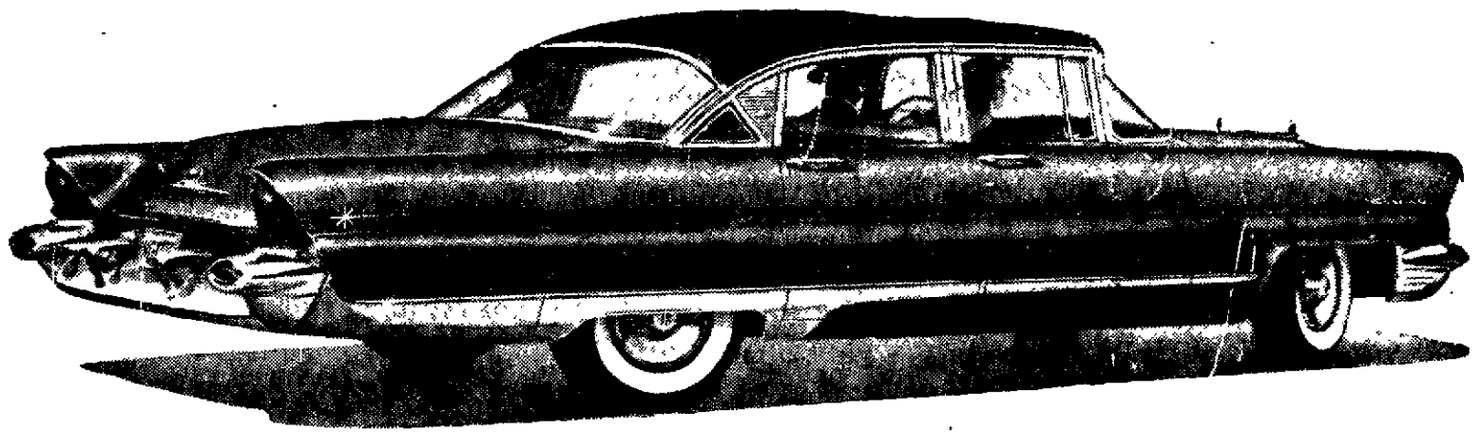
LINCOLN
The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever built



People who know fine cars are changing to Lincoln

More fine car buyers are changing to Lincoln this year than ever before in Lincoln's entire history—because they recognize that this longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time is unmistakably . . . the finest in the fine car field.

Naturally, most of these people are turning to Lincoln because of its fresh, trend-setting new styling. But after owning Lincoln, they praise this car's other fine qualities.

They tell us—time and time again—about Lincoln's exceptional handling ease. They're surprised that such a big, roomy car can be so effortless to drive—and that wives actually prefer this Lincoln over the family's smaller car.

They tell us about Lincoln's outstanding performance, too—in dozens of ways. Those who have never experienced Turbo-Drive are astonished to find that an automatic transmission can be so smooth . . . and those who take long trips say that this Lincoln makes the ride seem so much shorter.

And they tell us about roadability. They like the way Lincoln rides so firmly through a curve—and the freedom of taking any road they choose . . . instead of avoiding the bad ones.

If you've been thinking this is your kind of fine car, stop in and see us. We'll put a new Lincoln at your disposal any time you say.

Some Hit Tight Money Idea

Federal Reserve Policy Debated by Businessmen

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Money is the source of all squabbling — or, at any rate, most of it—in the business world today.

The war of words over the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy pretty much boils down to this: Even as you, industry is chiefly interested in how to get money and how much it can buy with what it gets. And, even as you, it wants money to be easy to get but at the same time it wants money to keep its good hard value when it comes to buying things.

Right now there's a big hassle over just where lies the happy mean. And one leading banker is suggesting that we keep money just as costly to borrow but make more of it available to people who want it.

The Federal Reserve has been accused of a long list of things: choking off the supply of mortgage funds, discouraging the sale of autos and other goods on time —and even making the stock market faint hearted.

This comes about because the Federal Reserve's chief reason for being is to keep the supply of money and credit ample for the needs of industry, trade and agriculture.

If the supply is excessive, there's a danger of inflation—runaway boom and rising cost of living, sinking value of the dollar and of savings.

If the supply is too tight, there's danger of recession — industry can't expand, trade is pinched, men are laid off, and gloom settles over the stock market.

The big argument now is over what the Federal Reserve is doing. It says it's making money dear enough and credit tight enough to discourage any boom-and-bust enthusiasts.

Builders of homes and makers of cars and other consumer goods say the Federal Reserve is making credit so tight that cars aren't selling, homes aren't rising, industry can't find the money easily to turn its big expansion ideas into concrete and machinery, farmers are paying too much to finance their operations.

Bankers, who have seen the interest they get on loans rising, are mostly in the Federal Reserve's corner.

Vermont Wife Sticks by Her Accused Mate

Husband Insists He Is Innocent in Death Of Heiress in Nevada

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—A young Vermont wife today stuck by her husband as he proclaimed innocence in the slaying of the pretty Philadelphia heiress whose body was found in a closet of his Carson City, Nev., apartment.

William E. Boswell, 35, an itinerent bartender, was arrested Saturday in connection with the strangulation of blonde Mrs. Anne Harris Van Ryne, 22.

Police had been tipped off that Boswell was driving cross country to visit his wife in this small Vermont town and arrested him as he was about to enter his mother-in-law's house.

After visiting her husband in Addison County Jail, Mrs. Arline Boswell, 22, told newsmen: "He says he is innocent. I believe he is. The least I can do now is to stay with him."

Mrs. Boswell, who had left her husband in Carson City recently, went into seclsuion after leaving the jail Sunday.

Boswell pleaded guilty to a fugitive charge and was held without bail to await transfer to Carson City, where a murder complaint was issued for him.

Police said the registration of the car he was driving was made out to Mrs. Van Ryne and her husband, who is serving a year in Los Angeles on a bad check conviction.

Police said also that Boswell had Mrs. Van Ryne's wallet containing Nevada and Pennsylvania driving licenses and other papers.

Increase of 200 Pupils Predicted for Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Nearly 200 more pupils are expected to be enrolled in the Bucyrus Public School system next fall than were on the rolls this month, Mrs. John Seits, attendance officer for the schools, reported today.

Mrs. Seits estimates September's enrollment at 2,384 compared with 2,191 enrolled on May 1. About 250 boys and girls are expected to register for kindergarten classes next fall, about 65 more than were enrolled this year.

Total grade school enrollment is estimated at 1,224 compared with 1,162 this year and high school enrollment is figured at 909.

Almost 800 million pounds of U. S. food surplus was donated to school children and needy persons in this country and aboard during the last half of 1955, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Bucyrus Memorial Service Speaker Is Officer of VFW

BUCYRUS — Principal speaker at annual Memorial Day services at Oakwood Cemetery Wednesday morning will be Robert E. Combs of South Charleston, O., senior vice commander of the Veterans of Foreigh Wars of Ohio.

The cemetery service will be preceded by the traditional parade from Washington Square to the cemetery staring at 9:30 a.m. Grand marshal will be Wilbert K. Wert, a World War II veteran. His assistant will be Ralph Widman, a past commander of the American Legion. Serving as master of ceremonies at the cemetery service will be M. C. Participating in the parade will be members of the Bucyrus police and Crawford County sheriff's departments, Gold Star mothers, Spanish-American and World War I veterans, Bucyrus High School senior and junior bands, marching units of the Disabled American Veterans, VFW, 37th Infantry Division and Korea veterans, veterans' auxiliaries, and units of the 174th Field Artillery Battalion, Ohio National Guard, Civil Air Patrol, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts.

Veterans, who died during the past year, include: Russell N. Kester, Ralph C. Brown, W. H. Baumgartner, Walter E. Esterline, Walter R. Farrall, Edward C. App and Francis M. Osborn, all of World War I, and Dr. John S. Kiess, Herbert G. Bruce, Floyd R. Laipply and Warren Dunkle, who served in World War II.

Feed, hay or hand tools left on the barn floor invite tripping and falls, according to the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Tugboat Fleet Strike Felt at 15 Lake Ports

CLEVELAND (AP)—Captains and engineers of the Great Lakes Towing Co tugboat fleet struck today for pay raises, slowing shipping operations in 15 lake ports

The Licensed Tugmen's Protective Assn. of America and the company broke off bargaining talks last night with the union asking $2-a-day raises and the company offering $1 20 more on daily rates which now are $22 35.

In addition to about 190 tug captains and engineers affected, nearly 200 firemen-linemen also are made idle by the walkout. Two firemen-linemen, along with a captain and engineer, make up a tug crew.

Great Lakes Towing has 50 tugs in its fleet and had about 45 of them in operation at these ports: Buffalo, Erie, Pa., Ashtabula, Conneaut, Fairport, Cleveland, Lorain, Huron, Sandusky, Toledo, all in Ohio; Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Chicago, Duluth and Milwaukee.

At Buffalo, 22 captains and engineers had walked out last Wednesday in what the union said was an unauthorized strike.

Negotiations for a one-year contract to replace one which expired April 1 were conducted here with assistance of federal mediators. Patrick J. Cullnan Jr of Chicago, president of the LTPAA headed the union negotiating team and Ross Mortimer, assistant to the president, was management's chief spokesman in the session which reached a deadlock Sunday night.

Federal Mediator John P Walsh said he would seek to arrange a renewal of the talks, but no session is yet scheduled.

Shipping experts say it is possible to operate the huge lake bulk carriers in the affected harbors without tugs, but that it would take much more time and be hazardous in some of the more difficult passages.

Bucyrus Motorists Vote for Bypasses

BUCYRUS — By a margin of 4 to 1 members of the Crawford County Automobile Club have indicated they favor a U. S. Route 30-N bypass of Bucyrus, Fred O. Trautman, club secretary, reported today.

The club members also favor, by a margin of 2½ to 1 a State Route bypass of the city and they are opposed, by a margin of 3 to 1, to the removal of the island parks in the center of Washington Square.

Removal of the islands had been suggested by Safety-Service Director C. C. Richard to provide more downtown parking area

Other opinions, expressed in the poll mailed to members, disclosed that they favor appointment of a city traffic engineer who would be responsible for the placement of traffic lights, and absolute stops are favored as a method of intersection traffic control.

C. L. Bacon, former assistant postmaster, was re-elected club president. William A. Smith is vice president and Mr. Trautman, secretary. Elected directors were A. D. Neff, Dr R. J Catoa and Fred Dierksheide. Others on the board are H S Carmean, J C. Seckle, Robert Gehringer, all of Bucyrus, and F. F DeRoche, New Washington.

The club now has 2,353 members, an all-time high and 352 more than a year ago, Mr. Trautman reported.

Offers Legal Aid

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the House Un-American Activities subcommittee during hearings here starting June 4 have been offered services of the Bar Assn. of St. Louis.

The association's executive committee said it had been "reliably informed" several witnesses had been unable to obtain lawyers

"There is ground to believe the reason for this difficulty is the unpopularity of the cause," the committee said.

Sheet Metal Workers Settle 4-Week Walkout

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sheet metal workers returned to their jobs in the greater Cleveland area today, ending a four-week-old strike

Members of Sheet Metal Workers Local 65 voted Sunday to accept a two-year contract calling for a pay increase of 17½ cents an hour, retroactive to May 1, and an additional 16½ cents next year.

Clarence Desch, union business representative, said fringe benefits equal to 7½ cents an hour would be added to the contract May 1, 1957.

The sheet metal workers were among 16 building trades crafts which walked out May 1 in the first general strike of construction workers in this area in 30 years. Fourteen of the unions returned to their jobs after accepting the two-year, 34-cent package agreement May 16. The 15th union, the bricklayers, accepted similar terms May 19.

Sheet metal workers had been demanding an initial increase greater than the 17½ cents accepted by the other unions

Primary Due Tuesday

Adlai and Kefauver End Campaigns in Florida

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver today wound up their primary election campaigns in Florida—their only Southern primary test—while others assessed a Democratic primary in North Carolina which unseated two congressmen who did not sign an anti-integration manifesto.

Florida Democrats vote Tuesday in a key test of the popularity of Kefauver and Stevenson, both seeking that state's 28 votes in the Democratic National Convention.

Exchange Charges

The two presidential hopefuls began the final week's campaign with a joint appearance resulting in no fireworks, but as the week wore on tempers frayed. Kefauver blasted Stevenson Sunday for alleged use of a "smear and smile" technique. Stevenson's manager said Kefauver showed signs of "desperation."

Stevenson arranged to fly to California this morning to begin stumping ahead of that state's June 5 primary, in which he also opposes the Tennessee senator. Kefauver planned a final 17-hour marathon tour of the key Miami area.

2 Non-Signers Defeated

President Eisenhower has only token opposition on the GOP side of the contest.

In Saturday's North Carolina Democratic primary, defeat came to Representatives Deane and Chatham—nonsigners of a document attacking the Supreme Court's decisions to segregation. More than 100 Southern Congress members signed it.

A third nonsigner, Rep. Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, won renomination. Cooley, however, told the voters he strongly opposed mixing the races.

In another congressional race in which segregation was not an issue, Rep Carlyle was defeated by former U.S. Sen. Alton Lennon. Other results gave thumping victories to Sen Ervin and Gov. Luther H. Hodges.

Warning to Democrats

Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi issued a statement calling the defeat of Deane and Chatham a warning to the Democratic party not to "insult the South's convictions."

In another weekend development, veteran Sen. Alexander Wiley was refused endorsement for re-election by the Wisconsin Republican State Convention.

Wiley, a staunch supporter of Eisenhower's foreign policy, has been at odds with state GOP leaders for years. He said the lack of endorsement won't prevent his seeking another term.

The convention move means that its new choice, Rep. Glenn Davis, will have organization support and financing in the September primary. It does not close out other candidates.

Would 'Welcome' Airing

In Washington Sunday, Secretary of State Dulles said he would welcome "a pretty thorough airing of foreign policy" in the 1956 political campaign.

But he said in a filmed television interview he hopes the discussion will remain on a high level — "not just throwing dead cats around." He called it a "healthy thing that every four years foreign policy should be discussed."

In Vermont Saturday, Rutland businessman William I Ginsberg was elected Democratic national committeeman. A state convention also accepted his 12-delegate slate for the national convention. The delegates are unpledged to any candidate.

Three of the delegates said they favored Stevenson for the presidential nomination, one said he leaned toward Sen Symington of Missouri and eight declined to reveal a choice.

All Ike Backers

Vermont Republicans also elected a 12-man slate to their national convention. The group was unpledged but on informal poll showed all favor renomination of Eisenhower.

The working heads of the two parties, GOP Chairman Leonard Hall and Democratic Chairman Paul M Butler, tangled in a warm television debate in Washington Sunday. Each accused the other of distorting facts.

Hall predicted Eisenhower would be re-elected in November by an overwhelming majority. Butler said the country wants a change of administrations more than in 1954, when Democrats regained control of Congress.

Butler also challenged Eisenhower to a television debate with the Democratic presidential nominee, whoever he may be. Hall rejected the idea and questioned Butler's sincerity in making the proposal.

A weekend tabulation showed Democrats have passed the halfway mark in selection of national convention delegates. The lineup of pledged and favorable delegates gave Stevenson 148½, Kefauver 127, others 142 and left 300½ uncommitted out of a total of 718. The convention will have 1,372 votes, with 686½ needed to nominate a presidential candidate.

Republicans already have chosen enough delegates pledged to President Eisenhower to assure his renomination.

January Nails First Place in Links Tourney

DALLAS (AP) —Texan Don January, whose fantastic finish with an eagle deuce on the final hole won him first money in the $30,000 Dallas Centennial Open, looked toward the second half of a Dallas golf extravaganza today — the $70,000 Texas International Open.

The tall young man from Abilene would up the Centennial Open Sunday like they write about in Frank Merriwell books — he pulled from behind with a blast from a sand trap into the hole 15 feet away and then saw the men he had left in the lurch with one great shot — Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y. — try desperately for birdies that would have given them a tie for first.

January's closing 3 under par 67 gave him 268 for 72 holes and a stroke advantage over Finsterwald and Ford.

January led for two rounds then lost it to Finsterwald, 201 to 99 in the third.

They jockeyed for the lead down the stretch and drew all even on 16 when Finsterwald had a Bogey. On 17 Finsterwald and Ford got birdies and January a par and the man from Abilene was a stroke behind. He then won the tournament in the only way possible outside of a hole in one. He wedged out of the trap to an eagle while Finsterwald and Ford barely missed long putts for birdies that would have given them a tie with January for first place.

Prospect Returns to Normal After Baseball Team's Spurt

Prospect was returning to normalcy today after a two-week baseball binge which saw the Prospect High School baseball team come within one run of snaring the state Class B baseball crown.

The Bulldogs were nipped 4-3 Saturday at Columbus by Cincinnati Green Hills in the championship game. It was first loss for Coach Fred McCumber and his charges over a 22 game stretch reaching back to last fall.

It was the furthest advance ever made in state competition by a Marion County Class B team in any sport and the squad members were bitterly disappointed. However, the townspeople welcomed them as heroes upon their return after the championship set back.

Parents and other residents who were unable to make the trip to Columbus, along with the high school band were on hand to greet the team when it returned home. Clyde Forry, Prospect High School superintendent, praised the team for its performance and urged the players not to be too disappointed.

Coach McCumber also warned against disappointment at the loss. He praised the team for its enthusiasm and hard work throughout the season.

The afternoon program was cut short by a rainstorm but the team was cited at the annual Prospect High School alumni banquet Saturday night.

Country Club Quartet Wins In Match Play

Lou Cummins, George Howser, Paul Hunt and Joe Casey were class winners in a match play golf tournament at the Marion Country Club Saturday.

Cummins captured the Class A crown by finishing five holes up over 18 holes. Golfers beating par of 72 with handicap were winners. Warren Rowley was four up and Bob Cripps and Joe Whalen both three up in the Class A division. In Class B, Howser and Hunt both were four up after 18 holes. Dr. Dan Brickley and Dr. Richard Morgan posted two up scores while Morey Cornell was one up and Bill Eikenbary was even.

Casey, who finished one up was the lone winner in Class C.

Annual men's flag tournament is carded Memorial Day. Jack Stoddard, Country Club professional reported today. The golfer advancing the farthest with his handicap plus par is declared the winner. Another tournament undetermined now, will be held Saturday, Stoddard said. National Golf Day will be observed at the Country Club June 9, he added. Golfers pay $1 entry fees and attempt to beat both the man and woman national open champ with handicaps. Proceeds from the annual event go toward various golfing foundations and charities.

Ohio Sales Tax Record Made

Collections Go Over Billion in 11 Months

Ohio's sales and use tax collections from last July 1, when the current fiscal year began, already have passed last year's record 12 month total of $206 362 275 registered on June 30 1955, according to State Treasurer Roger W Tracy.

With five weeks yet to be reported indications are that the grand total sales and use tax collections for fiscal 1955 56 will establish and all time record for any year since the sales tax law became effective in 1935, Mr Tracy reported.

The total income from all sources already paid into the treasury during the present fiscal year before the end of May now exceeds one billion dollars It wasn't until a month later in the previous fiscal year that that figure was reached, Mr Tracy said.

1-A—CARD OF THANKS

ROBERT A. WILSON and family wish to thank all who assisted in any way during the illness and death of their baby, Timothy A. Wilson. Especially do we wish to thank our neighbors, friends, the doctors and nurses, members of Wesley Church and Rev. W. L. Stafford.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORY of Pfc. Robert Byron Anthony, died May 28, 1955.
We often sit and think of him,
When we are all alone;
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep
Green and never fade away.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Father, Brothers and Sisters.

INSIDE NOTE

SIDNEY, Neb. (UP) — When Dave Thies unwrapped his 1956 motor vehicle license plates here he got a surprise. Between the plates was a note from a convict at the Nebraska reformatory where the plates were made. The note read: "You are sure lucky to be on the outside, getting these, instead of making them."

OUT OF POCKET

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — A hotel guest awakened just in time to see his pants slowly moving through the air toward an open window. He grabbed them, but not quickly enough to have $93 in the pocket. Police found a cement block and a long stick beneath the window.
